Biggest B.C. Fire At Lake Cowichan Mastered By Crews

Men, machines and the elements joined forces during the week-end to control the worst B.C. forest fire in several years at Meade Creek, near the southern end of Lake Cowichan.

The blaze was mastered Saturday night. The main fire was believed 700 acres in extent when it was brought under control. Driven by gale-force winds earlier, it had started several other fires one to two and a half miles away, some of which burned over 15 acres before being brought under control.

Atomic Official Missing

LOS ALAMOS, N.M. (UP)—Public relations director H. Tracy Snelling of the Los Alamos atomic energy installation was reported missing under mysterious circumstances today.

Los Alamos was reported to be missing on Wednesday and that a search had been started.

Snelling was last seen at Santa Fe.

Sgt. Dean Wilson of the Los Alamos police department said New Mexico authorities had been asked to make a "routine missing persons check" for him.

It was reported that on Wednesday, Snelling asked Carroll Tyler, chief of the Atomic Energy Commission, for this annual leave. He apparently intended to take a vacation trip with his wife. However, she reported Friday that she had not seen him for two days.

Wilson said authorities believed the missing official was somewhere in New Mexico.

Boy Who 'Deaded' Grocer Friend To Be Placed In Home

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Seven-year-old Teddy Moreno, who "deaded" his friend, the corner grocer, with a .32 calibre pistol, waited today for someone to give him a new home.

Teddy played happily in the nursery at the juvenile home, unaware of the tragedy he caused by killing Fred Throckmorton, 67, Friday night.

"The groceryman used to give me candy and cookies," said Teddy. "He was a nice guy. It was hard to pull the trigger. And then it went bang—like a fire-cracker."

"He fell down. I deaded him."

Reds Show Off 'Superspeed' Jets During Aviation Day

The fire spread a little on Sunday but firefighters were able to control the direction of the blaze.

While high winds blew in the area Saturday they did not tend to spread the fire very much. This was because the fire was in the lee of a mountain and the wind did not get at the flames.

Altogether 250 men battled the flames during the week-end, including crews of the Western Forest Industries Ltd. and the Victoria Lumber Co. Ltd. The fire broke out on the properties of the Western Forest Industries Ltd. and threatened for a time timebrands of the Victoria Lumber Co.

B.C. Forest Service headquarters here today had no new estimates of the damage done by the fire. The latest estimate was 2,500,000—board feet of cold-decked logs, which are believed a total loss, and 5,000,000 feet of felled and bucked timber, a considerable part of which is expected to be salvable.

Alcan To Pay 'Fair' Price For Resources, Assures DuBose

McNeely DuBose, a vice-president of the Aluminum Company of Canada Ltd., said here today that his company would pay "fair" prices for water and other resources it may buy from British Columbia for its proposed huge development in the Tweedsmuir Park area.

Mr. DuBose, accompanied by two other ranking officers of the huge company, Paul Leman, Montreal, treasurer, and Ed Baker, New York, legal-financial expert, later in the day met provincial government officials to open negotiations.

The company proposes to buy for a long period sufficient water for a 1,500,000-horsepower hydro-electric development. Much of this power would be used for an aluminum reduction plant with an annual output of 1,000,000,000 pounds.

The whole development, including the erection of a town for 50,000 persons, is expected to cost between $350,000,000 and $500,000,000. The hydro-electric development would be the largest ever undertaken anywhere by a private company. The aluminum reduction plant would be the largest in the world.

The military section of the demonstration.

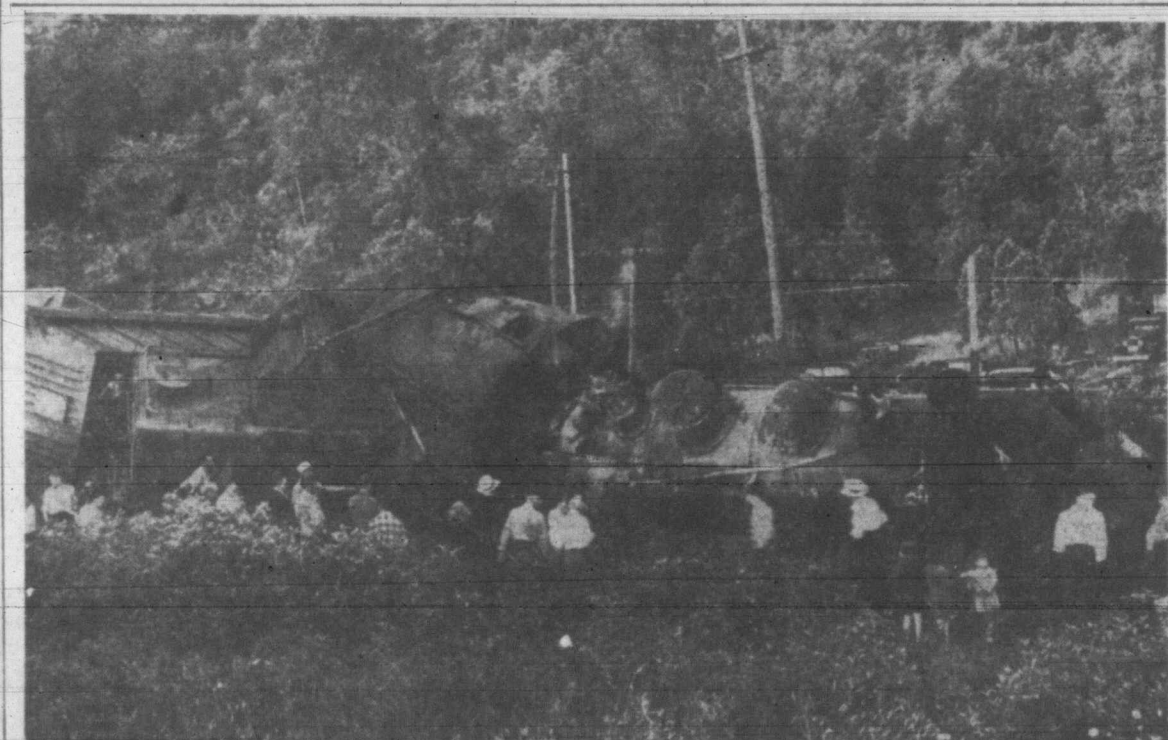

The new jets, three single-engine and one two-engine type, whizzed past the reviewing stand at extremely low levels. The weather was excellent, with a bright blue sky studded by cream puffs clouds into which the planes frequently disappeared while stunting.

The Russians demonstrated a tailless glider which did loops, turns and spirals as a crowd of almost 1,000,000 watched.

The audience also saw three familiar types of jet fighters, Yakovlev, Mikoyan and Lavochkin, breezed over the field singly and in formations of three, five and nine.

Owen Sound Train Wreck Blamed On Tampered Switch

Three trainmen from Toronto narrowly escaped death when they jumped from an incoming freight train seconds before the engine and three cars crashed through an open switch a half-mile from the C.P.R. station at Owen Sound, Ont. The engine smashed into standing boxcars, bunting them 100 feet into a building. Seeking the cause of the accident, railroad officials reported there was evidence the switch had been tampered with.—(SNS Photo)

London Businessman Pleads Not Guilty To Murder Of Widow

LEWES, Sussex, Eng. (UP)—Dapper John George Haigh, a London businessman, pleaded not guilty today in the acid-bath murder of wealthy widow Mrs. Olive Durand-Deacon, 69, who was shot and plunged into a bath of sulphuric acid.

A jury of 11 men and one woman listened to Haigh's plea in County Hall here as some of Britain's best legal talent started the courtroom battle which will decide whether Haigh goes to the gallows.

Haigh, 39, was defended by former Attorney-General Sir David Maxwell-Fyfe. Another brilliant trial lawyer, Attorney-General Sir Hartley Shawcross, opposed him.

Hundreds of persons jammed the street outside the courthouse when Haigh arrived for the start of his trial. He wore a new fawn-colored suit.

Among the spectators were movie actor Robert Montgomery and Miss Anna Silliwell of Savannah, Ga., a strikingly handsome girl who armed herself with a bottle of brandy for the overnight wait for seats in the courtroom.

"I have come to see what goes on in this country and this is the best way to do it," she said.

Attlee Will Replace Cripps During Illness

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Clement Attlee announced today that he will take charge of the treasury during the absence because of illness of Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Meanwhile, Sir Stafford presided today at the final meeting of Commonwealth Finance Ministers before leaving for Switzerland tomorrow to enter a nursing home.

The only available official comment was that the ministers had "succeeded in devising a common policy to meet a common danger."

Cripps was reported to have said Saturday there was "no alternative to additional cuts in dollar expenditures."

It was understood the ministers had agreed on over-all reductions in dollar expenditures amounting to 25 per cent of last year's levels.

Cripps is suffering from a long-standing stomach ailment. He will undergo treatment for six weeks at a hospital in Zurich.

An A.P. dispatch from London said reports that ailing Sir Stafford Cripps was through as Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer were brushed aside today by official sources.

"I wouldn't dignify the reports by making a statement," was the comment of a Treasury spokesman.

Whether or not the application will be granted is likely to hinge on a report to the commission by its accountants and engineers who 10 days ago were instructed to investigate the operations of the company and report to the commission.

While this investigation has been completed, the report has not yet been presented to the commission, Dr. Carrothers said. He said the report will probably be presented during the day.

The B.C. Electric has applied to the commission to increase the urban transit fares in Vancouver to a straight 10 cents. The company has claimed that the introduction of the 40-hour work week for its transit workers, awarded by a conciliation board earlier this year, had raised the cost of operation, which the company must pass on to the public.

While the present B.C. Electric application does not involve Victoria, it is understood the company is studying the effect of the 40-hour work week provision on its operating costs here.

P.U.C. Expected To Rule Today On Mainland Bus Fares

The Public Utilities Commission today is expected to rule on whether or not an interim transit fare boost will be granted the B.C. Electric for Vancouver.

Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the three-man commission, said today the commission probably would deal with the B.C. Electric application at a meeting this afternoon.

Whether or not the application will be granted is likely to hinge on a report to the commission by its accountants and engineers who 10 days ago were instructed to investigate the operations of the company and report to the commission.

While this investigation has been completed, the report has not yet been presented to the commission, Dr. Carrothers said. He said the report will probably be presented during the day.

Woman Will Stay On Flagpole Till She Gets A Home

REVERE, Mass. (UP)—Mrs. Jean Ellis, 24, ignored her husband's entreaties to come down to earth today and vowed she would perch atop the 50-foot flagpole overlooking this city's amusement park until she had a decent place to live.

"I'm staying up here until we can get a decent place to live," she shouted down at her husband. "And I don't mean those high-priced offers or slum rooms we heard about by mail."

She admitted she was cold and lonely in the canvas-covered crib, which her husband and an amusement concessionaire built to advertise their plight. But she said the rubber mattress, electric plate and folding chair "are better than an expensive hotel room."

Her husband continued his search for a home which might suit his determined wife.

Grant Macdonald, Industrialist, Dies

WINNIPEG (BUP)—One of the prairie's top industrialists, Grant Macdonald, president and general manager of Macdonald Brothers Aircraft Ltd., died at his Falcon Lake summer home during the week-end.

Macdonald, who was 62, was also secretary-treasurer of Macdonald Brothers' Sheet Metal and Roofing Co. Ltd., president of Garrick Ltd., vice-president of Garrick Finance Ltd. and a director of Air Industries and Transport Association of Canada. He made his home here.

He is survived by his wife and a daughter.

Three-Prong Drive Against Canton On 300-Mile Front

HONGKONG (UP)—Chinese Communists unleashed a major offensive along a 500-mile front today in a sweeping three-pronged drive on Canton, the refugee capital of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's battered Nationalists.

From Ichang, an important commercial port on the upper Yangtze River, to Tsungjen, the main Red base in the central province of Kiangsi, Communist armies rolled southward apparently unchecked.

The western column sprang from Ichang, captured a few days ago by six divisions under the command of Gen. Lin Biao, conqueror of Manchuria.

Lin's forces also had captured the Yangtze port of Kiangling and eight other key towns in that area, reports said.

The central column, meanwhile, skirted Lake Tungting, south of Communist-held Hankow, and drove into Hunan province, taking Changshou at the triangle where Hunan, Hupeh and Kiangsi provinces meet.

The eastern column struck along the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway.

Reports from Changsha said the provincial government was preparing to flee southward. Advance Communist units were reported hammering toward Kanchow, the refugee capital of Kiangsi province—a city only 50 miles from the Kwangtung border. Canton is in Kwangtung province.

Homebound To B.C.

MONTREAL (CP)—Canadian Pacific Air Lines reported today that its plane which carried 32 Canadian government officials, business leaders and newspapermen on a pre-inaugural trip to Australia stopped in the Fiji Islands Sunday on the way home.

The airliner was expected to take off for Honolulu today and the party will return to Vancouver at midnight Wednesday.

The party, which left Vancouver July 10, enjoyed four nights and three days of hospitality in Australia before starting back across the Pacific.

Weather Forecast

Hawaii Stevedore Firms To Resist Seizure Of Docks

HONOLULU (UP)—Hawaiian stevedore firms were expected today to fight proposals for government seizure of the territory's docks.

A legislative interim committee will meet tomorrow to consider measures aimed at ending a strike of C.I.O. longshoremen. The legislation will be drafted and introduced at an emergency session of the territory's legislature.

The committee members will give most consideration to Governor Ingram Stainback's dock seizure plan. The plan provides for temporary seizure in a dispute and for permanent seizure if the stevedoring firms and dockworkers fail to resolve their dispute after 90 days.

Other proposals call for compulsory arbitration of waterfront disputes on a resolution asking Congress to enact a law protecting Hawaii against shipping shortages during maritime disputes.

British Shipowners Refuse To Act In Canadian Strike

LONDON (CP)—The shipping Federation, organization of British shipowners today rejected a request by British dockers' unions that the federation try to arrange a meeting between Canadian shipowners and striking Canadian seamen.

The Stevedores' and Lightermen's Unions made the request in an attempt to end the strike which has tied up London's vast dock area. Official figures showed 15,341 men are on the waterfront and 71 ships are tied up.

Under a state of emergency proclaimed last week by the government, troops are working 52 other ships, unloading food and loading export cargoes. Seven thousand soldiers returned to work on the waterfront after a week-end rest.

The dockers quit work three weeks ago after they had been ordered to work two Canadian ships, the Beaverbrae and the Argonaut, whose crews are on strike. The crews are members of the Canadian Seafarers' Union, which calls a strike March 31 after signed Canada shipowners had eastern contracts with the Seafarers' International Union, a rival body.

Rocket To Moon Shelved

CHICAGO (UP)—The president of the U.S. Rocket Society today advised the Canadian Rocket Society to give up its plan to send a rocket to the moon in 1960.

Not that the plan isn't mathematically and theoretically possible, said R. L. Farnsworth.

"It is my opinion that it can be done—mathematically it has been worked out for 30 years," he said.

The problem is one of financing.

NOT FOR AMATEURS

Only the government can now afford to think about building a space ship to the moon. He said the cost was so high it was "foolish for amateurs to continue with their experiments."

He said the Canadians were "a group of amateurs who got wrapped up in their own dreams."

"We had the same dream at one time," he said.

Typhoon In Japan Takes Nine Lives; Wrecks Buildings

TOKYO (UP)—A typhoon dissipated over the Genkai Sea between Kyushu and Korea today, leaving nine dead, more than 2,000 buildings damaged and 25 boats destroyed.

The season's second typhoon struck the southernmost Japanese islands with winds of 60 miles an hour at the centre. Its full force hit Kagoshima Prefecture, where it claimed eight lives.

Torrential rains fell throughout western Kyushu and southwest Honshu Sunday night and this morning. Communications were knocked out and rice paddies inundated.

Study Prospective Sites

Three ranking Aluminum Company of Canada Ltd. officials, Ed Baker, New York, financial expert, right; McNeely DuBose, Montreal, vice-president, centre, and Paul Leman, Montreal, treasurer, study a map of British Columbia before going to the Parliament Buildings to open negotiations with provincial government officials.

Negotiations Open For Great Aluminum Project

McNeely, DuBose, vice-president of the Aluminum Company of Canada Ltd., here to open negotiations with the Provincial government for the rates the firm will pay for resources for its proposed huge development in the Tweedsmuir Park area, said today the progress of surveys at the proposed dam site for the huge hydro-electric development was not as encouraging as had been hoped.

Accompanied by Ed Baker, New York, financial-legal expert, and Paul Leman, Montreal, treasurer, Mr. DuBose today met Provincial government officials to negotiate the rates the company will pay for water and other resources for the huge proposed development. First discussions were with George P. Melrose, provincial lands minister; Maj. R. C. Farrow, comptroller of water rights for the province, and other provincial government experts.

The aim of these discussions is to arrive at a formula for presentation to the Provincial Cabinet. The negotiations are expected to take some time.

The company proposes a development in the Tweedsmuir Park area which would rival in size Arvida, Que., hydro-electric and aluminum reduction plants, presently the largest aluminum producer in the world. The company proposes a dam on the Nechako River which would raise the levels of several lakes in Tweedsmuir Park. Water from these lakes would then be tunneled through the Cascade range westward for a power site near tidewater. From the power plants the power would be transmitted to a plant near Kitimat.

The project would develop 1,500,000 horsepower and the overall cost of the hydro-electric, reduction and other plants, along with a township for 50,000 people, has been estimated by the company at between $350,000,000 and $500,000,000.

The company made a preliminary survey last year and this year sent in teams to attempt to discover if suitable foundations were available for the proposed Mechako River dam. The surveys this year are expected to cost almost $1,000,000.

Mr. DuBose said the surveys had not yet found suitable foundation for the dam on one side of the river. Either a rock or clay base, which would be impervious to water, would be satisfactory, but so far no impervious material has been located although the engineers have gone down a considerable depth.

Two alternatives

If impervious material cannot be found for the dam foundation the company has two alternatives. First, it may attempt to make the overburden impervious by driving steel sheeting through it. Second, it may abandon its plans for a single dam and decide to erect several dams to raise the levels of the four or five big lakes. The lakes would then be connected by tunnels or channels.

"This is what we will probably look into next year," said Mr. DuBose, referring to the second alternative.

It is expected that if no satisfactory foundation can be found for the Nechako dam, which would be a huge pile of rock and earth, the cost of the hydro-electric development will be considerably greater than had been originally estimated.

As for the negotiations, Mr. DuBose seemed confident. He said that Alcan would pay a fair price for the water and other resources it wishes to buy from the province.

The dockers quit work three weeks ago after they had been ordered to work two Canadian ships, the Beaverbrae and the Argonaut, whose crews are on strike. The crews are members of the Canadian Seamen's Union, which called a strike March 31 after eastern Canada shipowners had signed contracts with the Seafarers' International Union, a rival body.

Under a state of emergency proclaimed last week by the government, troops are working 52 other ships, unloading food and loading export cargoes. Seven thousand soldiers returned to work on the waterfront after a week-end rest.

Plan To Proceed With Manufacture Of Bombs Privately Confirmed

U.S. May Cut Down Airlift

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U.S. Air Force is reviewing a plan for reducing the Anglo-American airlift to Berlin.

Air force officials would not list details of the plan.

According to a Berlin report, the British and U.S. airlift strength would be cut two-thirds by September. Air force spokesmen here said "no commitments have been made."

The plan would have to be approved by the armed services and the State Department and perhaps other government officials before it could be put into effect.

It is known the air force has been considering the possibility of reducing the airlift in view of the Russian agreement to end the Berlin blockade.

While driving to qualify for his license, S. A. Mabb, 1618 Wharf Street, was in collision today with a parked vehicle owned by Edward Campbell, Royal Oak, on Menzies Street, in front of the B.C. Police motor vehicle branch office.

Mabb started his car and it went straight across the street into the Campbell car parked at the opposite curb. Damage was estimated at $150.

Girl Injured

Jean Hayward, 17, of 1132 Johnson Street, was taken to Royal Hospital by city police this afternoon, with abrasion and a possible fractured right ankle, suffered in an accident at Cook Street and Caledonia Avenue.

She was a passenger on a motorcycle being driven by Eric Hayward, which was in collision with a car driven by Archibald B. Riddle, 2638 Mount Stephen Avenue.

Extensive damage to the bow of the fishpacker Quatsino is seen in this picture, taken today as she lay on the ways at the Bay Street plant of the Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd.

One fishpacker was beached in a sunken condition and another has been towed to this port badly holed following a collision in the Straits of Juan de Fuca off Jordan River early Sunday morning. No one was injured.

The 134-ton packers, both owned by B.C. Packers, were the Quatsino and the Pender Isle. Salvage operations are proceeding on the Pender Isle, which is lying offshore at Jordan River with just her wheelhouse showing above the water. She will probably be brought here when raised. The Pender Isle was heading up-coast at the time of the collision.

The other vessel, the Quatsino, was towed stern first, with pumps operating, to the company's Outer Wharf plant by the Island Rover. She arrived about 9:30 Sunday evening.

The load of fish she was transporting from Ucluelet to Steveston was removed there, and the packer later was towed to the Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd. Bay Street plant. Repairs to the hole, which almost stretches the full depth of her prow, are expected to take about 10 days.

Officials of B.C. Packers here and in Vancouver declined comment on the accident until they had an opportunity to investigate.

He Lost His Dinghy

VANCOUVER (CP)—The mystery of the drifting dinghy found by the R.C.A.F. off Sechart Sunday night has apparently been cleared up.

Dan Davidson of Vancouver reports he lost the dinghy training his 30-foot cruiser Spindrift at about the same spot. He searched for an hour after he had noticed the loss, but a high wind forced him to return to Vancouver.

No one was in the craft, he said.

Try To Settle Strike

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A 22 member union executive board today studied a company proposal to settle the strike of 1,300 Northland Greyhound Lines employees in eight states and part of Canada. The strike began April 28.

5 Czechs Executed

PRAGUE (UP)—Five Czechs charged with plotting with British agents to overthrow the Communist regime were executed today. They were sentenced June 9 after their conviction of high treason and espionage. Eight others were given life terms and two were sentenced to 25 years each.

Mission To Moscow

PRAGUE (UP)—Six Czech cabinet members left today for Moscow by plane for what Foreign Office officials said was "a private journey on leave."

Attlee Will Replace Cripps At Treasury During Illness

LONDON (UP)—Prime Minister Clement Attlee announced today that he will take charge of the treasury during the absence because of illness of Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Meanwhile, Sir Stafford presided today at the final meeting of Commonwealth Finance Ministers before leaving for Switzerland tomorrow to enter a nursing home.

The only available official comment was that the ministers had "succeeded in devising a common policy to meet a common danger."

Cripps was reported to have said Saturday there was "no alternative to additional cuts in dollar expenditures."

It was understood the ministers had agreed on over-all reductions in dollar expenditures amounting to 25 per cent of last year's levels.

Cripps is suffering from a long-standing stomach ailment. He will undergo treatment for six weeks at a hospital in Zurich.

One Woman's Day

By NANCY HODGES

FAMILY FANDANGOS

WELL, OUR FONDEST expectations have been realized! We have a family. On second thoughts I am not sure it isn't two families—with all due respect to the grammatical demands of the occasion.

While sitting at my typewriter the other day, I happened to look out of the window just in time to see a parade coming down over the rocks in single file.

First came Grandpa and Grandma Quail—I'm sure that is their domestic status, they look so elderly and plump, so "cushy" and comfortable. And when I saw them at the head of the procession, well in the vanguard, my idle thoughts recalled that: "Where Macgregor sits, that's the head of the table."

VARYING SIZES

IN THEIR WAKE followed an assortment of sizes—six baby quaillets not much bigger than bumblebees, then four which were obviously a few weeks older and seemed inclined to show off a bit for the benefit of their younger brothers and sisters—or perhaps their cousins.

In fact I am pretty sure they are cousins, because all the babies were so much of a size, and the next lot so much of a size, too, as to suggest they belonged to separate broods, but of the same clan.

The rear was brought up by Ma and Pa Quail who kept an eye open to make sure that no intruders—four-legged or otherwise—interfered with the youngsters. Meanwhile, Grandma and Grandpa cocked an alert eye at the same ahead of the procession.

HITHER AND YON

THEY ARE FUNNY to watch as they go about the family foraging. The babies scurry hither and yon, as if on wheels. And, rather like a human infant, cover a lot of territory even while keeping to the comparatively straight route determined by the parents.

For new family or no new family, the quail never vary their route nor change their habits. Down the rocks they march at a given time, hopping from stone to stone, never deviating, until you feel that their tiny feet must have worn a trail.

Then they disappear under the raspberry canes, emerge to cross the lawn, and vanish into the shrubs on their way to the next property. The odd thing about them is that they so seldom use their wings—except when, startled, they fly to the trees or when they go up to roost in the cypress—so that you wonder they don't get rusty from disuse.

WINGLESS WONDER

TALKING OF WINGS reminds me of the American breeder who has just started the poultry world with his new variety of chicken—a wingless one, or, rather, 400 of them.

For that is the size of the flock he has produced after experimenting over the last 10 years. And did it by originally mating a light Brahman rooster with a white Minorca hen. Both ancestors came from Texas and both were deformed, having only stubs where their wings should have been.

According to the breeder, Peter H. Bauman of Des Moines, Ia., the wingless wonders he has evolved have a thick layer of white meat where the orthodox chicken has joints and wing bones to frustrate the carver.

HOP, SKIP AND 'BLIDGE'

IN ALL OTHER respects, they are like other chickens. They run like a chicken, cackle like a chicken and taste the same. The hens lay eggs like the ordinary egg, except that they produce wingless birds.

I don't know whether the absence of wings will mean anything to this new breed of fowl, but at least it will have solved one problem for those chicken-keepers. I refer to the problem I once heard succinctly described by an elderly Chinese cook, at that time employed by Mrs. R. P. Butchart, of garden fame.

After vainly trying to keep some chickens from flying out of their pens, he disgustedly observed: "Him all same blidge-lady—him never stay home!"

Maritimes Propose Increased Freight Rate Concessions

FREDERICTON (CP)—Enlargement of the freight-rate concessions granted Canada's Atlantic seaboard provinces under the Maritime Freight Rates Act of 1927 was proposed before the Royal Commission on Transportation today by the New Brunswick government.

The government also suggested a broad series of improvements in transportation services and facilities, including the construction of a canal across the Isthmus of Chignecto, the 18-mile neck of land connecting New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

The New Brunswick government presentation, submitted by New Brunswick Counsel Paul Barry of Saint John, made these among other recommendations:

1. The freight-rate differential existing between the Maritimes and other points before the last freight rate increase should be restored by adjusting the provisions of the Maritime Freight Rates Act of 1927.

(It is under this act that Maritime shippers are given a 20-per cent reduction on certain hauls, with the Dominion Treasury making up the losses to the railways.)

2. These reductions should be made applicable over the complete haul, at least as far as Toronto. At present the reduction is applicable only to the Maritime section of the run.

3. The reductions should be effective on manufactured goods made in central Canada and shipped to New Brunswick, particularly on goods protected by tariff and where they are not competing with a New Brunswick industry.

(The Freight Rates Act reductions do not now apply to any goods moving into the Maritimes from other parts of Canada.)

(The New Brunswick proposal apparently was aimed at reducing consumer costs on manufactured goods for residents of this province, which has little manufacturing.)

Waitkus May Get Back Into Action Before Season Ends

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Jubilant Eddie Waitkus said today he may be back in a Philadelphia Phillies' uniform before the end of this season.

Shot by a demented girl fan in Chicago more than a month ago, the 29-year-old Phillies' first baseman returned here Sunday by plane for rest and additional treatments.

He said Dr. William Adams at Chicago told him he might return to the ball club in a couple of months if "things went well."

That cheered the baseball star so much that, upon his arrival here, he refused to go to a hospital as planned but insisted on being taken to his hotel.

A crowd of some 350 braved all-day rains to greet Waitkus at the airport. Eddie himself was disappointed because rain cut short the Phils doubleheader with the Pittsburgh Pirates here too soon for him to make the park.

Bruce McCormick, Miss Anderson Win P.N.W. Golf Titles

SEATTLE (AP)—Edean Anderson, a teen-ager from Helena, Mont., and the veteran Bruce McCormick of Los Angeles held the Pacific Northwest amateur golf titles today — the first time in many years they have left the home country.

Miss Anderson, 19, trimmed 21-year-old Alice Bauer of Los Angeles for the women's crown Saturday, 3 and 1, rallying at the close of the 36-hole finals to grab the diamond.

McCormick, who had played just well enough to win during the week-long tourney, suddenly broke out with a rash of birdies to crush Ray Weston of Spokane, Pacific Northwest Golf Association champ in 1947, 7 and 6.

Next year the tournament goes to the Capilano course at Vancouver, B.C. The title will be decided at the Spokane Country Club in 1951.

States Not Founded On Belief In God 'Doomed,' Says Pope

ROME (UP)—Pope Pius XII, now waging a bitter fight against Communism in southeastern Europe, warned Sunday that states which are not founded on a belief in God are "doomed to downfall."

The Pontiff spoke in German over the Vatican radio to a congress of Roman Catholics in Berlin celebrating the 50th anniversary of the Pope's ordination to the priesthood.

He made no reference to the global excommunication issued Wednesday by the Vatican, whereby all Roman Catholics who are members of the Communist Party were deprived of the sacraments and those who actively supported it were excommunicated.

But he praised the people of Berlin for their resistance to the "times of dissolution of the order and the apparent revolution of all moral values."

"If you let your gaze wander over Berlin's limitless fields of ruins," he said, "Your eyes no longer will find the metropolitan city which once stormed the heavens."

"Is it not a warning against pursuing worldly values in this life and seeking the ultimate only in them?" he added. "There is only one ultimate thing: 'God and the resolute devotion to God.'"

With bridal receptions in full swing there are many occasions when we have need for a good punch recipe. Apricot whole fruit nectar makes a good base for the punch because it has more body to it than does a fruit juice. It has beautiful color and its flavor combines well with other ingredients.

MR. PEARSON HIT IT

FROM LONDON CAME THE SUGGESTION over the weekend that official spokesmen for Canada, Great Britain, and the United States might get together to try to find some solution for what, for short, may be termed the dollar-sterling crisis and all its implications. It is indicated that the nations of the British Commonwealth may take the lead in efforts to impress upon the government of the United States the desirability of meeting on common ground in such an endeavor.

To say that the growing complexities of the existing economic situation call for a supremely expert and impartial analysis is to repeat the obvious. All the doleful predictions notwithstanding—and the Jeremiahs seem to be as thick as grasshoppers in Saskatchewan—there is, nothing on the business horizon of the North American continent to suggest anything like a major recession.

As we understood it from a reading of the various despatches from London during the last 72 hours, this new proposal envisages a multi-million-dollar trading arrangement under whose provisions unilateral fiscal discrimination would automatically disappear. In other words, a plan of this kind would operate on the old basis of the free exchange of goods between nation and nation; this is to say, that the country capable of producing commodities in conformity with basic economic laws should be free to do so, with the result that it could export such products and take, in return, other products which it could not produce economically.

But when the nations of the western world—to wit, Canada and the other members of the British Commonwealth, plus the United States—get together and wrestle with problems which, in the aggregate, constitute the composite legacy of two of the costliest wars in history, it ought to be possible for realism to prevail. Incidentally, much loose talk was indulged in during the recent federal election campaign. Mr. Drew, for example, had much to say about his plan for convertibility of pounds into dollars. But he was careful to evade any pronouncement of the method he would employ. He may have had a magic formula; but the electors of Canada were never given the opportunity of studying it—if, of course, he had one.

In view of these circumstances, and in the light of very recent events, we may be permitted to quote here some comments which appeared in these columns last May 27. Here they are:

Mr. George Drew would immediately set about getting more British business by making the pound sterling and the dollar convertible. Canadian consumers and Canadian businessmen generally are much more likely to heed the warning which Rt. Hon. Harold Wilson, president of the Board of Trade in the Attlee administration, sounded in his speech in Ottawa the other day. Said the visiting statesman:

"There is, in fact, no easy solution to this problem of trade between our two countries, no miraculous way of turning our sterling surplus with other countries into dollars we need."

And, as if answering CCF promises to get markets by bilateral barter, Mr. Wilson amplified his remarks with the plain statement that one of Britain's economic objectives is to get out of such deals because "British export trade is far too diverse and variegated to be capable of planning on bilateral lines." Canada's far-seeing and able secretary of state for external affairs, Hon. L. B. Pearson, however, dealt with this complex trading question from a somewhat different standpoint when he said recently that the problem of making dollars convertible into pounds could be solved only by a three-party agreement between Canada, the United States and Great Britain—not by telling other countries what they must or should do, "but by sitting down and seeing what can be done."

We refute the suggestion of local politicians, disappointed by the results of the federal election on June 27, that the foregoing implies an attack on "a man when he is down." Our concern is to consider the question realistically. Whatever Mr. Drew may have said or whatever he may have intended to say on convertibility, the plain fact remains that such an issue can only be settled by the friendly discussions of the parties concerned.

CORRECTIVE ACTION

ADJOINING COLUMNS IN THIS PAPER the other day, by coincidence, carried the news from Atlanta that Negroes were to be included on jury lists—and, from Washington, that Paul Robeson had been branded a Communist Party member for many years. The first-mentioned item disclosed that a Negro case tried in Georgia had been referred back to trial court because members of the race had been barred from jury duty when it was originally heard. This, if we may be permitted comment on a situation which is purely American in character, reflects sound appreciation on the part of the higher court of honest democratic practice.

The Georgia court's action reaffirmed a principle that has too frequently been honored in theory rather than practice. The lesson to be drawn from the new ruling will be viewed by Negroes as a definition of citizenship rights which are not always accorded them.

The decision, moreover, will do much to counteract the influence of the so-called un-American activity of Mr. Robeson. That it was necessary to order a new trial in the Atlanta case suggests the reason for the distinguished singer's antipathy to the land in which he was born. As prejudice and injustice are beaten down in the United States, the resentment of Robeson will lose its effectiveness as propaganda. From the opinions he has expressed, it appears evident that the noted stage figure is pro-Russian because of the treatment accorded his people in his native land. When equality has been established there, no reason will exist for his antipathy. In the meantime, it matters little whether or not Mr. Robeson has delusions of grandeur—whether or not he is desirous of becoming the black Stalin—as one witness told the United States Un-American Committee. Personalities are relatively unimportant in the broader issue which is now being decided.

ALL OF A PATTERN

YESTERDAY IN AUSTRALIA PRIME Minister Chifley called upon the striking miners to go back to work and stop following the Communist line. Yesterday in Trafalgar Square supporters of the striking Canadian Seamen's Union put on their show.

Although so many thousands of miles separate the senior Dominion in the southern seas from the "Old Lady" of democratic dispensation, it is refreshing to learn that the ordinary folk of both continents seem to think very much alike. Mr. Chifley has said his piece; and the consensus of stevedores' wives in London can be summed up by the comments of one whose remarks were set down after yesterday's demonstration in Trafalgar Square. She wanted to know:

"What is all this so-and-so thing about, anyway; and wot's the idea of my old man getting no pay this week because some blinking Canadians don't want to do this or the other?"

We might continue the lingo of the hard-headed Londoner. But it would seem to be sufficient to say that the "little people" of the free world—or so we think—are beginning to froth at the mouth when they note the effects, as Mr. Chifley indicated, of following the Communist line.

Make no mistake about it, and we say this without equivocation, there is a movement here in Victoria, in British Columbia, and throughout Canada which fits snugly into the pattern of the Cominform's propaganda. In sum, it is world revolution, and those who sponsor it are traitors to the democratic way of life.

As we have said before in these columns, we detest the witch hunt; and we are certain that the St. Laurent government at Ottawa would not countenance such spectacular inquiries as have taken place in Washington. But it behooves every Canadian to be on his and her guard against the activities to which Mr. Chifley referred yesterday and to which the London wife of a stevedore alluded in such unvarnished terms.

DEVELOPMENT THROUGH POWER

THE DETAILED REPORT OF THE British Columbia Power Commission, submitted to Premier Johnson late last week, will provide ample material for study by those skilled in accountancy. To the layman, the financial statement included in the document indicates a healthy state of affairs and sound business practice in operation. That section of the treatise, important as it is, of course, reflects but one side of the undertaking by which the government some years ago set about the task of giving added appeal to life in the outlying communities.

Figures listing the increase in number of premises served and others describing the reduction in the average charge to consumers supply more positive evidence of the success with which the commission is carrying out the job entrusted to it. That responsibility varies. It may entail the assumption of authority for the provision of power to a municipality. Or it may find expression in the taking of electric current to a farm, where the oil and gasoline lanterns may be put away—or the small private light plant dismantled. But in either the same principle is being followed—the extension of better service to those parts of British Columbia which need it.

It is unnecessary here to repeat the argument that British Columbia requires greater population to capitalize on the resources in which the province abounds. On the other hand, it is obvious that little more than pioneer settlement can be undertaken when facilities for more advanced communities are lacking. That, coupled with the drift to the towns, emphasizes the desirability of making life more pleasant for those families prepared to leave the city streets for the less developed areas on which they may pursue those activities of the land which give strength to any country.

This is part of the over-all program which a forward-looking government is developing to advance still further the position of British Columbia in Canada and the world. And in that effort the B.C. Power Commission is playing its part well.

TAFT AND THE PACT

SENATOR TAFT'S decision to vote against the Atlantic Pact rests on his belief that it is "inextricably" involved with an American obligation to supply arms. That the pact and the arms bill are connected no one denies. But whether they are "inextricably" involved the one with the other is a question which has not yet been answered clearly and satisfactorily.

The answer depends on whether the pact is construed strictly from the words of the text or, historically, as it was negotiated with the other nations and as they actually understand it.

SENATOR TAFT BELIEVES that as it was negotiated the pact has become so scrambled with the military aid bill that each and every one of the other signatories now believes it has acquired a treaty right to receive arms and that the United States has a treaty obligation to supply arms to each and every one of them.

Mr. Taft would vote for the pact, though with some misgivings, if it carried with it no obligation by treaty to supply arms for at least ten years. He would also vote to supply arms if the case could be considered on its military and political merits. But he objects to the idea that a nation acquires a treaty right to American arms because it adheres to the pact.

HAS SENATOR TAFT construed the pact correctly? Secretary of State Acheson says that "there is an obligation to help, but the extent, the manner, and the timing is up to the honest judgment of the parties," that is to say the honest judgment of the signatory governments. Senator Vandenberg told the Senate that "the timing and the nature and the extent of implementing legislation, in this or any other year, are, in my opinion, wide open to the free decision of all senators as to what they believe the objectives of the pact and the national security require."

There is a substantial difference in principle, which could become very troublesome in practice, between these two authoritative interpretations. Of the two, Senator Vandenberg's is, of course, the one which would meet Senator Taft's objections. But Secretary Acheson's is the one which expresses correctly the understanding which developed when the pact was negotiated.

THIS NEED NOT HAVE happened. It should not have happened. But it did happen. In January the state department went publicly on record with a statement which was addressed to the Scandinavian countries and had a decisive effect on their policies, saying that the United States would supply arms only to "countries associated with us in collective defense arrangements." After that Norway and Denmark adhered to the pact. Are they not entitled now to believe that they have acquired a right to receive arms? If Norway and Denmark, then what about all the others? Could it now be said that Congress is wholly free to decide for itself what their treaty rights are?

That is how the pact and the arms bill became scrambled. The question then is whether this diplomatic blunder is irreparable. I do not think it is, and that the pact can be ratified without reservation and an arms bill passed which will in entire good faith correct the impression that there is a treaty right to receive American arms.

THE CRUX OF THE trouble, created by the Scandinavian episode, lies in the notion that each separate country which adheres to the pact acquires a treaty right as against the United States. That could lead to endless trouble over a period of 10 or 20 years—to have to negotiate with Norway, and with Denmark, and with Portugal, and with France and with Britain over whether the United States is allocating the right kind and the right amount of equipment to each and every one of them. The way out of that quagmire is to re-establish at once the original principle, which has become obscured, that the American obligation is to the Atlantic Nations collectively, not to each nation separately. Then the arms supplied will be to reinforce a European strategic system and not a series of separate national and imperial military establishments.

CARE MUST BE TAKEN to prevent at the outset the creation for the next 10 or 20 years of some 11 separate pressure pumps operated by each general staff abroad upon the administration and the Congress in Washington.

In practice the strongest insurance against it will be to make the European arms bill a part of the American military budget. The Congress should authorize the Pentagon to furnish arms to the European defense system up to a specified amount. But it should instruct the administration to find the money by economy within the existing military appropriation.

THE PROGRAM of European rearmament must be kept small if European recovery is to proceed. To keep it small does not increase the military risk. For within the coming years Europe cannot be made powerful enough to fight Russia. The purpose of the pact, as Senator Vandenberg made so very plain, is to convince Russia finally that it cannot wage war against Europe because it must also fight America; which it has no way of defeating. If that will not deter the Russians, the arms we can supply will certainly not deter them.

As Our Readers See It

THE RIGHT SPIRIT

I have been greatly interested in the letters appearing in your newspaper regarding the latest production by the Players' Guild of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

The interest taken in the production is pleasing to all members of the organization who appreciate both the adverse and the favorable comments characterizing the kindly letters which appeared.

It is true that many of the members have considerable stage experience, but I should like to assure our many supporters that we shall at no time resent any constructive criticism given in this apparently friendly manner.

This fact and an intense desire to present to the public of Victoria really worthwhile living drama motivates our thinking and activities.

SAFETY OF CHILDREN

I would like to have you publish this letter on behalf of "The Recreation Council," which is promoting a home playground contest.

The Lord Jesus Christ said: Go ye into all the world and

Sincerely, I urge more parent interest and support of this very worthwhile cause — "Safety of our children."

The contest is based on the idea of keeping our children happy and contented in our own home yards, with equipment suitable to their own individual needs. Please enter and show you are personally interested in your own child's safety. Let's swamp headquarters — The Recreation Council, 408-10 Post Office Building—with our entries to show gratitude for the just cause in Safety of Children.

BEACH SERVICES

It was with great surprise that I read in your paper the decision of the Parks Committee to recommend cancellation of the permit to hold religious services on the beach. The enemies of the gospel will do everything in their power to hinder the spread of the gospel, and shut out if possible, its glorious light.

We urge every true Christian to protest to the council this denial of right under British law to preach God's word to every creature.

The Lord Jesus Christ said: Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every Creature. He that believeth shall be saved and he that believeth not shall be damned—Mark 16:15. Make no mistake, liberty once lost is hard to regain. Let us hang together or we will hang separately.

ROSS BAY GOSPEL SINGERS

I see by the Times there are a number of complaints against Ross Bay Gospel Hall members. I was under the impression that we were living in a Christian as well as a democratic country. It would seem to an onlooker that the people who make these complaints are neither Christian nor democratic, or they would not make complaints on such a flimsy basis.

Christianity has gone ahead for nearly 2,000 years and the only countries who ban it today are dominated by Russia.

The Parks Committee cannot have much backbone or they would not allow a few complaints to influence them. I do not belong to any church, but I believe in the good Book and would like to see the Gospel Singers get a square deal.

Calculated Risk In Germany

By PETER EDSON from Washington

END OF THE Paris conference of Foreign Ministers brings American and allied western European foreign policy to another one of those crucial turning points that are always bobbing up. Regardless of the somewhat disappointing results of the Paris meeting, things aren't going on in the same old stalemate.

A principal factor in the new situation will be emergence of the new west German state. This does not mean that it will be armed loose and allowed to shift for itself. But once having been created, the new German state will have to be given its proper place in the European scheme of things.

The 60,000,000 German people will no longer be just the occupants of an occupied territory, living in a political vacuum. When elections are held and the new provisional government is constituted, it will be impossible to undo what has been done.

MANY ELEMENTS

This new German government will apparently start out with a fairly even balance of power between the Social Democrats of North Germany and the Christian Democrats of South Germany. But these are not the only political forces that will have to be reckoned with. Other important elements include the German youth groups and the refugees from eastern Germany and eastern Europe.

There are 10,000,000 to 14,000,000 refugees in western Germany. They are desperate people, at odds with the native-born residents of western Germany. Many refugees are now being moved from Schleswig to the French zone, for instance, to relieve political pressure against Danish territory.

The U.S. military government has been giving considerable attention to the youth groups, fostering educational and sports organizations in the American zone. Less attention has been paid to them in the British and French zones. German youth organizations, it will be remembered, formed a strong corps for Hitler's support.

ANTI-COMMUNIST Both the refugees and the youth groups are now believed to be violently anti-Communist. But they are also believed to be ripe pickings for any new German nationalist movement that comes along. The new Association of Independent Germans formed in Frankfurt, or other outfits of the same stripe, may have a tremendous appeal to youth and refugee groups which will have no truck with the older, Democratic parties.

If these new political elements should hold the balance of power in the new German state, it will give the occupying powers a tough problem to handle. The western powers will probably have to support the Democratic parties in order to maintain a government that will at all times cooperate for total European economic recovery—and not work just for German recovery alone.

There is some opinion that the new German state will be taken into full partnership with the Marshall Plan countries, because of Germany's great industrial potential. The fact that the new German state will be a disarmed nation does not mean that its voice will carry no weight at the council tables of Europe.

NATIONALISM INVOLVED While this negotiating with the new provisional German government may involve some risk of a strongly nationalist Germany eventually arising, this is a calculated risk that must be taken. The alternative risk is to make some bargain with Soviet Russia and give the Communists more voice in west German affairs, just for the sake of keeping down west German nationalism.

As to what Russian policy will be from here on, of course, no one can predict. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, in his press conference review of the Paris meeting, sees the Russians as on the offensive and unable to relax any of the stranglehold controls they have on eastern Germany.

John Foster Dulles, going a bit further, speculated in his New York statement that events might be shaping up with Russia for a struggle against growing revolt against Soviet intolerance. Any idea that Russia will abandon her desire for political conquest over all Europe is pretty much wishful thinking. While it should have been evident to the Russians within the past year that they could not gain control of Europe, they apparently did not see it.

They are like high thoughts brooding over the earth, whirling silently, as prayer. They are charity, seeing no evil; pity, binding the brokenhearted; and courage, faith and patience.

(For DeWitt Mackenzie)

IT ISN'T the same cold war any more.

Until the Paris peace conference, the cold war was treated by both sides largely as European deadlock. The Berlin blockade and airlift held in spotlight.

Now the conflict in Europe is changing, and a vast new front is opening up in Asia.

In Europe, postwar production is filling war-starved markets. Competition is making the economic phase of the European struggle more important. Also, communism has stepped up its long crusade against religious organizations. The Roman Catholic Church has answered with a mighty weapon—major excommunication. In Communist dominated countries with large Catholic populations, the conflict between church and state has been brought to a head.

There are many links with Europe in the United States which make it fairly easy for the American people to grasp the meaning of what goes on in Europe.

Neither the average American nor the average European is as well prepared to understand what is happening in east Asia. This is where communism has opened up a whole big new front.

This front shows signs of being co-ordinated, like the drive against religious groups in Europe.

ASIATIC SURGE

But in Asia it takes another form. It prods the vast unrest prevailing among more than half the people of the world, and its strategy is to marry their various nationalistic movements.

Nationalism is a tide in Asia as her peoples seek a better life. Asiatics want to get away from colonialism. The Communist tactic is to change evolution away from colonialism into revolution. It brands every western attempt to discourage violence as just more imperialism—American imperialism.

In this situation there are some subtly but powerfully dangerous things. They originate in the way the east thinks of the west—and of alien western things like democracy and communism.

Some Asiatics were civilized when Europeans were still living in caves, and as "colored" peoples they have a hardy complex about past and present color lines drawn in the west.

This, warmed by the Oriental's proud resentment over his colonial experience, produces a strong prejudice that saturates the Orient.

There is little faith in peace.

ANOTHER WAR

A third world war seems inevitable to most Asiatics. Judging from their own feudal background and what Russo-American statesmanship they have seen first-hand, they do not believe the two young giants of the world today are capable of living in peace with each other.

Oriental look at places like Korea. There they see a homogeneous people whom Russo-American rivalry has split in two since VJ-Day. To them it looks like a two-headed monster of western power politics. Korea's two separate governments, to the Asiatic, can no more make up than can the big power rivalry that produced them. Such things are taken as proof that the cold war cannot fail to burst into atomic flame that will engulf the world.

Venture capital employed in the Alberta oil boom is mainly American rather than Canadian. This gives rise to a highly contentious issue in Alberta, and it is a matter that should concern Canadians elsewhere. Looking into Alberta oil development on the spot, Mr. H. R. Armstrong, associate editor of The Evening Citizen, reported the other day.

For some reason Canadian financial men and corporation have not come forward to develop Alberta's oil resources. The money, the courage and the faith needed for this big venture have come from American-controlled concerns. So Canada, although it will benefit estimably, has let its own great oil industry slip through its fingers into non-Canadian control.

Garment Industry Outlook Jittery

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK—Mrs. John Juniper Jones, in Hilldale, Ia., wants a gabardine suit for her fall wardrobe. So Mrs. Jones goes sailing into the Bon Ton on Main Street, prices gabardine suits, then snorts something about "ridiculous high prices" and goes sailing out again.

Multipled by a few million from coast to coast, this scene has started a chain reaction that would make an atom-bomb look like a salt tablet. From left to right, Mrs. Jones' action has:

1. Caused the Bon Ton (and thousands of other shops which send buyers to New York's garment district to instruct their buyers to go easy.

2. Caused the manufacturer, when confronted by dozens of reluctant buyers, to cut down his plans for making garments and, consequently, to place slimmer orders with material manufacturers and even to cancel some orders.

3. Caused the material manufacturer to slow down production and, in some isolated cases, to close up shop completely.

4. Caused some unemployment, some curtailed working hours and wages—and thereby created more Mrs. Joneses who won't buy until prices come down.

DOWNWARD SPIRAL

What the whole thing amounts to is that the spiraling inflationary tendencies everyone was worried about two years ago have, in the garment industry, done a turnabout and are now spiraling the other way.

And New York's busy garment centre is growing unpleasantly dizzy watching the spiral develop.

This is the season of the year when buyers congregate along the showrooms of Seventh Avenue, looking at—and, the manufacturers hope, buying—the latest styles for late summer and fall wear.

But this season's buyers are arriving with double-pronged reminders from their bosses. First, they're to remember that the wartime habit of ordering twice as much as they need—because they'll only get half anyway—is out. Nowadays, you can have anything you want.

Secondly, they've been told to buy cautiously, because consumer demand ain't what it used to be.

CUTTING ORDERS

The buyers are buying some merchandise, of course. But, as one buyer from the south says, "I always ordered three-quarters of our expected August and September needs at this time. But not this year—I'm only placing orders for about 40 per cent. I'm biding my time!"

Another buyer, representing a big midwest department store that does a six-figure fall business in women's coats and suits, says it this way: "I'm placing orders for only about half of my August-September needs now. Who knows what'll happen by then?"

So, with supply up and demand down, prices have naturally fallen. One manufacturer of a nationally-known coat and suit label has cut his prices from 5 to 20 per cent below this time 1948. He can do it, because the prices he pays for materials have dipped that much or more.

Some makers are cutting their

MOSTLY LOOKING—Just as many buyers as ever went to New York to see new fall women's clothing on display, like this group studying a girde maker's line. But the buyers aren't buying.

profits a mite, too, as an additional stimulant to sales.

INVENTORIES

With both manufacturer and retailer, the one thing they always have hanging over their heads is the bogey-man of a big inventory. The idea of being stuck with a warehouse-full of unsaleable stuff is unappealing. The retailer can easily keep his inventory down by the simple method of not buying so much.

But the manufacturers' inventory problem is not so simple. He's always working two or three months ahead of time, against orders which he thinks will come in. Usually, his method is to make, say, four garments for every one he has on order. Today, however, most manufacturers are playing it close—for every one on order, they make only one. They don't want to take a chance on being stuck if the market completely vanishes.

So, along Seventh Avenue and through the crowded cross streets, the rumble of the hand trucks and the whirl of the sewing machines is a little less overpowering these days. There's another noise—a slight straining sound, sort of like necks craning to see where business went.

Rents Expected To Raise Cost Of Living Index

OTTAWA (CP)—Everybody is talking about the cost of living.

And well that may be so, for the official index soared to an all-time high last May, thus reflecting a variety of international impacts and influences which seldom fail to leave a heavy mark on Canadian economy.

At June 1 the index, a barometer of Canadian prices, touched 160.5, one point higher than the previous month. This came about, says a government official, because of comparative high prices in the United States.

He suggested that when prices in the United States fall a price recession in Canada will follow within several months. He noted a slight but continuing price drop in the American consumer market and predicted Canada's cost-of-living index will reflect this trend in months to come.

Specifically, Canada's index, calculated on the basis 1935-39 equals 100, took a sharp one-point climb over its May 2 standing through a 3.4-point advance in the food sub-index.

This advance was pinpointed on an off-season demand for meat, fresh vegetables and oranges. The official said the high U.S. demand for Canadian beef had forced prices up at a time when farmers were putting their cattle to pasture to fatten for the fall trade.

DEMAND AND SUPPLY

He foresaw a levelling off in the American prices and believed this would be reflected in the Canadian domestic market. On other meats, such as lamb and veal, he believed there would be a continuing high demand. World-wide demand was greater than supply.

However, whether the Canadian index rises or falls will depend on the rent factor. In the May-June index it was shown as unchanged at 22.4 from the April-May standing.

June rent surveys now are being tabulated and will be incorporated in the July 2 cost-of-living index. What that will show remains to be seen, but it is generally conceded that with easing of rental controls, the index will rise.

Rent plays an important part in the movements of the index. It places third in weight in the six sub-indices that make up the barometer.

Togliatti Says Communists Can Be Good Churchmen

ROME (AP)—Attacking the Vatican's excommunication decree, Palmiro Togliatti, Italy's leading Communist, told 2,500 of his followers Sunday they could be Communists and good Roman Catholics at the same time.

He labeled the decree a tactic "dragged from the darkest ages of humanity's history."

"We do not enter into the consciences of the militant (Communists) where there can reign faith and the convictions which satisfy them," he said.

The Vatican issued the edict Wednesday, declaring that all Roman Catholics who support Communism would be excommunicated and deprived of the church's sacraments and association with the faithful.

Excommunication would never destroy Communism, Togliatti told the Communist gathering in a Rome theatre. His speech was the first reaction to the decree by a top Communist leader in Italy. His suggestion that Communists could be good Catholics followed Communist policy in Italy, where strife with the Vatican has been avoided. The Communists voted to accept the Lateran Accord, which gave the church certain privileges in Italy.

NOT CRUSHED

Togliatti declared the "new arm" of the excommunication decree was hurled against Communists because "forces of the state, despite constant pressure, have not served" to crush them. Togliatti silenced with a gesture of his hand shouts from the audience of "We don't care," when he referred to the excommunication decree.

In a speech at Abbeville, France, Jacques Duclos, secretary of the French Communist Party, appealed for unity of Roman Catholics and Communists and added:

"It is understandable that numerous believers disapprove this attitude (excommunication) which places the church in the camp of the defenders of capitalism."

Trade unions were legalized in England in 1825.

Cosmic Ray Research Planned For August At Churchill, Man.

OTTAWA (BUP) — Canada's hush-hush defence research boards are prepared to co-operate with U.S. scientists in finding new clues to the secrets of cosmic ray activity 20 miles above the ground.

They say they want to clear up a long-standing scientific controversy hinging on whether the sun is surrounded by a constant magnetic field similar to that possessed by the earth.

Scene of the experiments was announced as the Canadian army's outpost at Churchill, Man., on the shore of Hudson Bay, and the date about Aug. 1.

The project was announced by the National Geographic Society, which said it was sponsoring the research together with the Bartol Research Foundation of the Franklin Institute, Swarthmore, Pa. It was described as part of a continuing process of cosmic ray research instituted in 1946 by the two sponsors and supported by the U.S. Air Force and Office of Naval Research.

Dr. Martin A. Pomerantz of the Bartol Foundation will head the expedition. He said he believed a study of the way cosmic rays behave at high altitudes in the Far North would lead to a solution of the scientific riddle.

Armed with Geiger counters and other expensive scientific material, Pomerantz' party planned to test a theory that cosmic rays should increase in intensity as the North Pole is approached.

Cellophane Enters Cancer Fight

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
WASHINGTON — Two important strides will be made this summer in the fight against cancer. One will be in the laboratory. Its effect may not be known for years. The other will be in the direct treatment of cancer sufferers.

"Cobalt 60," a cheap substitute or equivalent of radium, will become available in increasing quantities from the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission within the next few weeks.

There is nothing new in the use of radio-active materials to fight cancer. But, up until now, radium has been practically the only radio-active substance available for this purpose. Its extreme rarity and high cost have kept it from being used as widely on cancer patients as doctors would have liked.

At present, doctors can only save about 25 per cent of cancer victims. The widespread use of cobalt 60, alone, although extremely important, will only inch up that percentage. The use of X-ray and radio-active materials are only the second-best methods of fighting the disease. Surgery, cutting the cancer out, is still considered the most effective treatment.

HAVE HIGH HOPES
The big step that is to be taken in the laboratory is the one that doctors hope will add most to their ability to conquer the disease, in the long run.

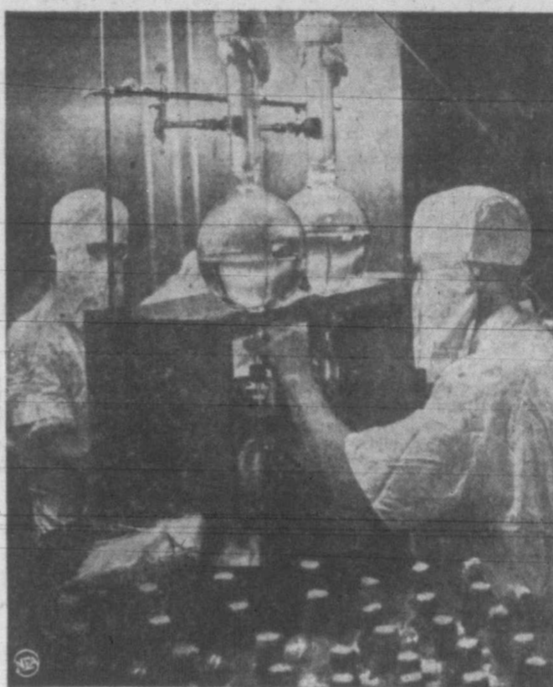

According to Dr. John R. Heller, director of the National Cancer Institute of the U.S. Public Health Service, the development of the technique of growing human tissue cultures under cellophane—as a tool in research—has been the greatest single accomplishment in the whole field in several years.

Several chemicals, says Dr. Heller, have been discovered that have various abilities to kill cancer cells in animals. The crucial work of testing these chemicals on human tissue cultures under cellophane will begin this summer. At best, it will take years before any positive results can be obtained from this new line of research, Dr. Heller explains. At worst, it could easily lead to a blind alley.

They can't be tested on human beings, because the scientists don't know if they are dangerous to healthy human cells. Only after the most careful experiments on the cultures will it be possible to start testing on people.

Finding the "wonder drug" which will cure all types of cancer—is the ultimate goal of this particular branch of research. But millions are being spent and great scientific effort is being put into the cancer fight in many different directions.

Great progress has been made

In the laboratory of the U.S. Public Health Service's National Cancer Institute, scientists begin the delicate job of testing new chemicals on human tissue grown under cellophane.

In the quick detection of the disease. This is of vital importance, because the quicker it is discovered in a person the easier it is to cure. Newest and most effective method of early diagnosis yet devised is the cytologic test, an extremely complicated, but 90 per cent accurate method.

A simple blood test to show the presence of cancer in a person is the goal of this line of work. There are encouraging promises of such a test being perfected. To date one hasn't been developed which is accepted by the general body of cancer specialists.

PROGRESS IN SURGERY
In the actual treatment of cancer victims, the refinement and improvement of surgery in general has provided the greatest progress. That includes better anesthetics, better methods of controlling infection and improved operating room procedures.

Big strides have been taken in lowering the death rate among women who get breast cancer. This is due largely to an educational campaign which has caused women to go to doctors when they first detect symptoms.

The darkest side of the picture is the increase in lung cancer. Some authorities attribute it to environmental factors, such as industrial wastes in the air or fumes from automobiles. A great deal of effort has been put on this aspect of the problem recently.

Next year, the government will spend about $22,000,000 in the fight against this disease. Private organizations will spend almost an equal amount.

MOCCASINS AND SANDALS ARE PRIMITIVE KINDS OF FOOTWEAR

It was an important step when people started to cover their feet. Before that time, everyone went barefooted. Many a cut must have been suffered by those who walked on sharp stones or broken shells.

No record exists to tell us when the first covering for the foot was used. Probably there were such coverings during the Late Stone Age in Europe.

Most North American Indians were in the Late Stone Age when white men reached this continent. It was common among these Indians to wear the kind of footwear known as moccasins. These were shoes without heels, and they were made of soft leather—usually of deerskin.

Moccasins may have been worn in Europe during the Late Stone Age, but that is far from certain. Perhaps it is more likely that those people wore sandals.

Old records and pictures tell us the customs of ancient Egypt, and we find that sandals were worn by the Egyptians of long ago. Sandals later came into widespread use in Greece and Rome.

To this day there are people who wear sandals. These part-coverings are used in our own land to a small extent, and they are the most common footwear in parts of Asia. The sandals of India, China and Japan are made, as a rule, from straw or plaited grass. Fancy sandals and slippers which are made of other materials also find a place in Asia.

A shoe is more than a sandal because it gives good protection to parts of the foot besides the sole. A shoe may cover the ankle, but the low-cut shoes known as oxfords are the most usual type.

Beside the sandals of which I have spoken, the ancient Greeks and Romans wore shoes which covered their ankles. Some of these people also wore the very high shoes called as boots.

The DOCTOR Says:

OSTEOMYELITIS IS BONE DISEASE; NEW DRUGS HELP IN TREATMENT

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Osteomyelitis is a disease of the bones in which dangerous germs destroy the bone and cause pus to form.

In the 16th century, severe cases were usually treated by amputation. Repulsive applications such as crushed body lice, incinerated toads, oriental herbs, boiling oil, powders made from Egyptian mummies, oil of roses, turpentine or mixtures of egg yolk were frequently used.

The many surgical treatments used over the years were all aimed at destroying or removing the dead bone and pus and allowing the new pus which was formed to drain to the surface. Ingenious instruments for boring into the bone and scraping out all of the infected material have been devised.

MANY TREATMENTS

One of the most interesting forms of treatment has been the use of maggots. Maggots eat only tissue that is dead. Thus, if they are placed in an area containing dead bone and other dead cells, they destroy the dead material and clean up the cavity without harming that part of the bone or surrounding tissues which is still alive. When they have completed their job, they can be removed easily. This form of treatment for chronic osteomyelitis is still used by some authorities.

Recently new methods of attack on osteomyelitis have been developed. The "sulfa" drugs and the substances obtained from molds or germs, which are called antibiotics, of which penicillin is one, are now used. Several members of both groups are useful in osteomyelitis. By using them it has become possible to save many people with osteomyelitis from months or even years of hospitalization and repeated surgery. For some of course, surgery is still necessary.

Question: What could cause my 16-year-old daughter to wheeze so that she can be heard in the next room?

Answer: This is probably asthma. It could be caused by an allergy or it could come from a heart condition. The causes should be investigated. This condition should not be allowed to continue without proper treatment.

Lifetime Vacation
From Summer Heat

Vacation season is here, and hundreds are leaving hot cities and towns to spend a short holiday by some cool lake or river. But here's the way one man tells how he arranged to give his family a lifetime vacation from stifling summer heat.

"One spring," he said, "I had my house insulated with Johns-Manville Rock Wool. That summer and every summer since, our home has been up to 15 degrees cooler—from top to bottom. What's more, in winter our house is more comfortable and we use up to 30 per cent less fuel. The money we have saved on fuel has paid off the cost of insulation."

To learn all the year-round advantages of Johns-Manville Rock Wool Home Insulation, write for free folder. Address: Johns-Manville, 1206 Homer Street, Vancouver, or see your nearest J-M dealer.

Hawaii's Aloha Silenced By Dock Strike

HONOLULU—In the shadow of the Aloha Tower, Hawaii's symbol of welcome and goodwill, the luxury tourist ship Lurline lies idle at her berth at Pier 11.

On her starboard boat deck, usually trod by lei-draped tourists, Quartermaster Paddy Quinn steps out into the sun with a bucket to wring out his dungarees without fear of reprimand. The Lurline has become the white-hulled symbol of a strike-bound Hawaii in which there are few tourists to welcome and very little goodwill these days.

In the pier building alongside are the headquarters of the International Longshoremen's Union (I.L.W.U.), whose stevedores have been on strike since May 1. The waterfront dispute up to July 1 had cost the islands more than $13,500,000.

CRY OF COMMUNISM

IT HAS HALTED shipping, slowed business, created shortages and unemployment, cut tourist traffic to a trickle, and raised the cry of Communism. While a fact-finding board is working to find a means of settlement, there is no indication that either labor or business will accept the board's recommendations.

And after watching labor and business slug it out for two months, Hawaii's half-million people face a new threat: 20,000 sugar cane plantation workers, all I.L.W.U. members, have voted to join the waterfront strike. There is additional fear that no matter how the dockside dispute turns out, a sugar workers' strike will follow anyway.

The sugar industry already has felt the strike. Sugar, ready for shipment, is choking piers and warehouses, and the California and Hawaii Sugar Refining Corporation switched to the Philippines to supply its huge refinery at Crockett, Calif.

The shipping industry has lost more than $3,000,000. Eleven freighters, which, like the Lurline, are strikebound in island ports, have 65,000 tons of cargo tied up in their holds. Three hundred sacks of onions and five tons of potatoes rotted aboard one ship and had to be burned. Meanwhile, sacks of potatoes and onions, each separately addressed, have been transported to the islands from San Francisco on Navy ships as parcel post; each sack requires $5.83 in stamps. Air cargo is up about 90 per cent.

The tourist industry, which has ambitions of becoming the territory's top money maker, has had a $2,000,000 setback. The prolonged strike has made vacationers hesitate to come to the islands even by air.

SHOPKEEPERS HURT

SHOPKEEPERS and wholesalers figure they have lost about $7,000,000. Their efforts to keep going have, in some cases, put a big dent in the goodwill traditionally shed by the Aloha Tower.

When the shortage of dairy feed became acute, for instance, Richard K. Kimball led a group of dairy farmers through the picket lines to unload 6,000 bags of soybean meal. It helped feed the cows, but it cost Kimball, a Honolulu hotel owner and dairyman, his chance for the Democratic nomination to the board of harbor commissioners.

In the picket lines, island women with brooms and anti-

Twenty-Three Estonian Refugees Ask Leave To Settle In Canada

HALIFAX (CP)—Twenty-three political refugees from Estonia were waiting aboard their tiny escape ship here today for the go-ahead signal to start a new life.

"It is good to be here in Canada," said Capt. Theodore Vomp. He shipped the 32-ton schooner W. E. Gladstone through stormy seas that kept the decks awash for eight consecutive days.

The tiny, two-masted vessel left Sweden June 23, called at Silgo, Ireland, for fuel and food, then headed for Canada.

"The people are so friendly here," said Capt. Vomp's blonde young wife. "Everybody is so nice to us. Our impression of Canada is good."

The few persons in the group who could understand English nodded vigorous approval. The four children chewed happily on candy given them by onlookers who crowded the pier.

The refugees lived in the same district in Estonia. When the Russians took over their homeland in 1944, they fled to Sweden along with 25,000 of their countrymen.

PLANNED FOR TWO YEARS

"When we first came to Sweden, we thought eventually we could go back to Estonia," said Capt. Vomp. About two years ago, however, they gave up hope and began to lay plans for emigrating to Canada.

The Estonians had "nothing bad to say" about Sweden, but "we could not even land there, or run a business—we would always be foreigners." And it was "too close to Russia."

"But in Canada we hope to become citizens," Mrs. Vomp added.

Victoria Girl With Television Show

Starring in the "Rooftop Rendezvous" television show in London, Eng., are Stewart MacPherson, Canadian commentator, left; Kip Oldfield of Victoria, B.C., and J. Arthur Rank star Jack Warner. Miss Oldfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Oldfield, Wychbury Avenue, was born in Victoria in 1926 and went to school here and in Duncan. In 1946 she traveled east to Toronto and being tall—five feet eight inches in her stocking feet—and a perfect 14, was soon in demand as a model. She also sang with the Frank Bogart orchestra in the Royal York Hotel. Just a month ago she crossed to London and since her arrival there has made guest appearances on "In Town Tonight" (this is equivalent to appearing on a Crosby show); has broadcast with Syd Dean and starts a series with a string orchestra in which Denny Dennis (Tommy Dorsey's old vocalist) shares the vocal honors. She is rapidly rising in her work with BBC to become one of the premier stars.—(BBC Photo)

Hon. W. C. Woodward To Open Solarium Summer Party

The Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children will hold its "Open House" and summer party on Wednesday, from 2.30 to 4.30 in the afternoon. This event gives the Solarium's many friends an opportunity to see the work carried on for the handicapped children of the province.

Highlight of the occasion this year will be the turning over to the Solarium of new staff cottages erected through the efforts of the Gyro Club of Victoria.

Hon. W. C. Woodward and Mrs. Woodward will be honor guests and Mr. Woodward will officiate at opening ceremonies, and will cut the ribbons leading to the cottages which will then be open to the public during the afternoon.

Receiving on behalf of the Solarium will be Mr. Logan Mayhew, president of the board of directors, and Mrs. Mayhew; Dr. Glenn Simpson, superintendent of the hospital, and Mrs.

Pro Patria Fete Realizes $62.74

A sum of $62.74 was cleared at the garden party sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary to Pro Patria Branch, No. 31, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., and held at the home of Mrs. J. Dunkeld, Cedar Hill Road.

Auxiliary president, Mrs. A. E. Macdonald declared the affair opened; home cooking staff was in charge of Mesdames A. K. Harrison, I. Grant and A. Gornall; caddy, Mesdames A. Sheriff and A. Kenyon; games, Mesdames W. H. Inglis and D. Burnside; contests, Mrs. A. Moon; fortune telling, Mrs. J. Hamer.

Afternoon tea was served, the arrangements being in charge of Mesdames H. Baker, T. Hartley, C. Winchester, R. Croll and M. Larkie. Mrs. W. J. Roberts was in charge of gate receipts.

During the afternoon it was announced that members wishing tickets and transportation for the picnic on July 24, must call at the office, 625 Courtney Street.

Wed In Same Church As Grandparents

Picturesque Church of Our Lord, where the groom's grandparents were wed 62 years ago, was the scene of the marriage July 8 of Miss Margaret Helen Sigurdson, daughter of D. L. Stewart, 521 Verne Terrace, and the late Mrs. Stewart, and James G. Johnstone, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Johnstone, 942 Kings Road.

Rev. D. L. Gordon officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride wore a pale blue suit, with black accessories and carried a Colonial bouquet of red roses. Her honor maid, Miss Arlene Johnstone, sister of the groom, wore a gold-toned suit and brown accessories. She carried an arm bouquet of pink carnations and sweet peas.

Ross Steed was best man. A reception followed at King's Road Hall, where the newlyweds cut their three-tier wedding cake. Mr. Betts proposed the toast. The couple motored up-island on honeymoon, the bride adding a corsage bouquet of gardenia and rosebuds to her ensemble. Mr. and Mrs. Johnstone are making their home in Victoria.

Ladies Prefer Hatless Males

VANCOUVER, July (CP)—The Hat Foundation are talking through their fingers. According to a survey of Vancouver women the local ladies prefer men without hats—advertising to the contrary.

"I like to see their hair," said one young woman. "I mean, how else is a girl to judge?" Over 70 per cent prefer males—particularly the young ones—without the headgear, the survey revealed.

The Directors of the Victoria Riding and Hunt Club entertained with an "at home," Sunday afternoon at their property, north of the Uplands Golf Club, when guests were shareholders of the company.

Garden Flowers Gay Setting For Mid-Summer Wedding

Colonial bouquets of tiny pink and white blossoms marked guest pews, and low baskets of bright garden blossoms decorated Oak Bay United Church for the marriage Saturday evening of Miss Jeanette Currie Stark and Thomas William Graves.

The couple, who repeated their vows before Rev. W. W. McPherson, are motoring in Washington and in the interior of this province before returning to make their home here. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Stark, 1705 Foul Bay Road, chose as her attendants, Mrs. Ed. Lowen, of Vancouver, honor matron, and Miss Dorothy Roberts, bridesmaid.

The groom, son of Mrs. Louisa Kirchin, 539 Joffre Street, was attended by Norman Cain. Ushers were James Stark, brother of the bride, and John Gray. The bride's gown was of delicate parchment satin, yoked in exquisite lace, and misted over all with a veil of fine illusion net crowned by clusters of orange blossoms. The voluminous folds of the skirt fashioned a graceful train; and leg o'mutton sleeves accented the slender bodice.

Pink rosebuds were arranged with stephanotis, and pastel sweet peas in the Colonial bridal bouquet, enriched with Maline lace frill streamers knotted in Sweetheart roses. A triple-strand of pearls was the bride's only jewelry.

Identical gowns of stiffened primrose yellow were worn by bridesmaids. They had wreaths of flowers and veiling in their hair and carried roses-mauve sweetpeas and pink carnations in their bouquets.

Dr. D. A. Jaquith of Toronto proposed the toast to his sister-in-law, at a reception which followed in Strathcona Hotel. Mrs. Stark, whose accessories matched her model frock in shades of roses, and Mrs. Kirchin, gowned in pearl grey, received guests with the couple.

Mrs. Graves' going away ensemble was a three-piece summer red ensemble, chic grey hat and accessories, and corsage bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis.

Dominion Convention, Order Of Royal Purple, July 25-27

More than 700 delegates, representing Order of the Royal Purple Auxiliaries to B.P.O. Elks across Canada from Newfoundland to Victoria and north to the Yukon, will gather in Victoria next week-end for the annual Dominion convention held in conjunction with the B.P.O. Elks convention from July 25 to 27.

Honored Royal Lady Lauran Baldwin, head of the Victoria Royal Purple Auxiliary, will act as official hostess for the gathering and other members of the local group acting on the organization committee are Mrs. Pearl Fevang, secretary; Mrs. Amy Jones, Mrs. Muriel Mackie, Mrs. Florence Wright, Mrs. Aimee Bergeron and Mrs. Evelyn Cooper.

Delegates are expected in Victoria next Sunday and in the afternoon will be entertained at a tea hour reception in the B.P.O. Elks Home on Cormorant Street. Business sessions commence Monday morning with Supreme Honored Lady Beatrice Collins presiding. An open session is planned for Tuesday evening and on Wednesday evening, ladies of the Royal Purple will join B.P.O. Elks

Teaches Nutrition To India's People

TORONTO (CP)—The people of India are nutrition-conscious and are interested in learning how to make available foods substitute for their staple, rice, if it becomes in short supply, said Dorothy M. Pearson.

A nutritionist, Miss Pearson is home on her first furlough in five years after being loaned by the United Church of Canada to the Women's Christian College at Madras.

She told of the 1947 food crisis in India when she helped teach people to use other foods besides grain and rice. The problem at the moment is "to make India self-supporting in foods by 1951," she said. "They are threatening to cut off all food imports by that time."

College 'Holiday' For Farm Women

GUELPH (CP)—A plan to give western Ontario farm women a few days away from their "160" has proven so successful it may become an annual affair, Ontario Agricultural College officials said. The "holiday" attracted members of women's institute branches, as many as 350 attending O.A.C. in one day. Suggested by Dr. W. R. Reek, O.A.C. president, the program included demonstrations of food preparation, movies and other entertainment.

Housework Lessons

PLYMOUTH, Devonshire, Eng. (CP)—The first "half-way homes" where Plymouth housewives will be taught housecraft before moving into new council houses were opened here.

Loses To Marriage

CRONDALE, Hampshire, Eng. (CP)—Because its members keep getting married and leaving Crondale Women's Cricket Club is threatened with extinction.

LANGFORD—The home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bayles will be the scene of the annual Langford P.T.A. garden party on Wednesday, Mrs. G. W. Pottinger, president of Greater Victoria P.T. Council will formally open the affair at 2 p.m. Mrs. Bert Harrison is general convener and there will be stalls of home cooking, contests, fish pond, ice cream and candy. Afternoon tea will be served on the lawn.

Garden Reception Follows Afternoon Ceremony

Personal Notes

A number of teas and parties have been arranged for Lady Sweetheart during her stay in Vancouver as house guest of Mrs. Wallace Millar. Mrs. Godfrey Isaacs entertained informally at the tea hour Saturday for the well-known Victoria visitor.

Honoring Miss Freda Wheadon who left today by plane for England, was the informal tea given by her associates in the Department of Education, Friday afternoon. Hon. W. T. Strath, Minister of Education, presented a bon voyage gift to Miss Wheadon. Dr. F. T. Fairley, deputy minister of education, for whom Miss Wheadon acted as secretary, was among the guests.

Widely feted by a host of friends in her native province of Nova Scotia, is Mrs. W. G. Wilson, who left this city two months ago, and has been traveling extensively in eastern Canada.

Mrs. Wilson is the guest of her cousins, Miss Annie and Miss Isabel Graham in New Glasgow. Among the many receptions given in her honor was that of the Margaret Fraser Chapter, I.O.D.E., which is named for her sister, the late Miss Margaret Fraser. Mrs. Wilson is expected to return to her home, 777 Pemberton Road, next month.

Miss Nancy Barrett, whose marriage to Mr. George Robertson will take place this weekend, was honor guest when Miss Pearl and Miss Mary Robertson entertained at their home, 580 Burnside Road, Friday evening, with a miscellaneous shower. Gifts were held in a wishing well, and the bride-to-be was presented with a corsage bouquet of red roses. Her mother, Mrs. F. S. Barrett, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. J. Robertson, received corsage bouquets of pink carnations. Games were played and refreshments served from a tea table centred with sweet peas. Guests included Mesdames Gwen Cannon, Jean Patterson, Hilda Roach, A. Miller, Violet Bell, Flo Fletcher, Sheila White, Marion Heighs, Grace Cliff, V. Barrett, Ruth Barrett, B. West, Francis Robinson and Misses Eleanor Fletcher, Bonnie Taylor, Georgina Baker, Doris Burgess and Jeanne Meignen.

Friends gathered in Colquitz Hall to honor Mrs. Victor Margerish, the former Miss Kathleen Mann, whose marriage took place recently. Miscellaneous gifts were held in a decorated watering can which was drawn into the hall on a wagon by Rita McNutt and Leonard Pederson, dressed as a bride and groom. Corsage bouquets of sweet peas and stocks were presented to mothers of the bride and groom. Guests were Mesdames E. P. Cummins, L. Lightfoot, L. Cummins, A. Butt, A. Simpson, E. Nixon, P. Cummins, W. 69-Year-Old Woman Top Foot-Slogger WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP)—New Zealand's "great-grandmother hiker," Mrs. Kitty O'Sullivan, is planning to cross the United States on foot. If she mother had already done it she is out to reduce the time.

Mrs. O'Sullivan, 68, has set distance walking records in many parts of the world. She walked from one end of New Zealand to the other 17 years ago. At 57, she visited Britain and walked 881 miles from Land's End to John O'Groats in 34 days.

She has just returned from Australia where, after four months' of intensive gymnasium training, she walked from Brisbane to Sydney, a distance of 667 miles in 47 days. This time included six half-days off to rest her feet and two whole days in which she was held up by floods.

Mrs. O'Sullivan, who is only five feet tall and weighs 112 pounds, can perform feats in the gymnasium that most women a third of her age could not do.

New 'Gadgets' Shown In Fall Fashion Designs

NEW YORK (CP)—"Constellation" necklines, "Comet" skirts and "flying" panels—these are the latest Adele Simpson gadgets, as shown in her fall 1949 collection to the press.

New shades have appeared on her fashion palette. They are: Maple Leaf red, autumn blue, wild mink, almost black and almost white.

Her suits are simply designed, without bulk or bulges, designed to be worn under coats unrevealingly.

Stay-to-dinner dresses are breathtaking: the brief jacket on removal revealing a family above-the-table interest dress or blouse underneath.

An "almost black" suit had a brief jacket, with long pointed revers and high-riding bosom pockets, edged in black velvet.

The new "autumn blue" shade—darker than sapphire, lighter than navy—was shown in a tailored dinner dress with shirt-waist top.

PERFECTION IN SUITS

Scurraks suit presentation leaves nothing to be desired. Exactly tailored . . . carefully detailed of finest fabrics. You may choose from cashmere, finest wool gabardine, tricotine, softest worsted and tweeds. Shades and colors that truly represent fashion.

Preview Look At Next Season's Styles Shows Shorter Skirts

NEW YORK (AP)—Prices will be lower and skirts higher next fall.

That was the main impression gathered by more than 100 fashion editors at the opening of the New York Dress Institute's 13th, semi-annual press week, at which leading designers preview the next season's styles.

Strictly cosmopolitan was the opening show of the week, a "round-the-world" collection designed by Tina Leser, whose prankish and often revealing sportswear makes fashion headlines each season. Recently returned from a global honeymoon trip, the far-sighted Tina picked up a few style ideas in each country she visited.

Her wraparound "kimono coat" in vivid red fleece, was of course, inspired by Japan. Her copper embroidered evening skirts by India, her brand-trimmed tunic suits by Brazil. And of course she added a liberal sprinkling of Japanese pyjamas and exotic cocktail dresses which Tina tagged "near east."

Christian Dior, the Frenchman accused as "father of the new look," intrigued the visiting editors with a handsome, swish and strictly French-looking group of styles, most predominant silhouette of which was the bloused-back suit. Most of his skirts are slim, sometimes slit and sometimes equipped with floating panels to add motion and fullness to the sheath beneath.

Though he makes his creations with such American titles as "Washington Square" and "Chevy Chase," the collection has a highly Parisian flavor. He shows velvet blouses with tweed suits, like bulky, belted jackets on casual rough wool suits, buttons back his coat labels, and uses buttons with a lavish hand on practically everything.

Many untrimmed wool dressmaker suits are accompanied by small fur ascots and matching muffs about the size and shape of a sofa pillow.

Frozen and fruit desserts come into their own on summer menus. Frosty lime sherbet served in tall stemmed glasses and crowned with canned cling peach slices makes a very pretty dessert. Pass tiny crisp almond ice box cookies with it.

Fruits like canned cling peaches which actually have a cool taste are most refreshing for summer meals. Keep a few cans of cling peach halves and slices on hand for quick and easy salads and desserts. Large canned cling peach halves filled with blueberries are beautiful to see and so delicious to eat.

Today's Recipe

BERRY SHERBET

Two eggs, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup light corn syrup, 2 cups cereal cream, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 lemon, grated rind and juice, 1 1/2 cups crushed berries, 3 tablespoons sugar.

Beat eggs until light and lemon colored. Add sugar, blending well. Combine remaining ingredients except the berries and sugar; add to egg mixture. Freeze at low temperature in refrigerator tray until just firm. Remove from tray; whip until light and add crushed berries to which sugar has been added. Pour the mixture back into freezing tray and freeze until firm, about 3 hours. Yield: Six servings. Garnish with whole berries.

Other Actresses Differ With Shirley On 'Cheesecake'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Here are some luscious lassies who claim Shirley Temple's tirade against "cheesecake" is strictly a bust.

Last week the former tot star told me she thought leg-art pictures are unnecessary. "If I had a choice between having sex appeal and being an actress, I'd rather be an actress," she declared.

A burst of indignation rose like an atom bomb over Universal City. There, snuggled in the foothills above the San Fernando Valley, lies the Universal-International studio, fast becoming Hollywood's cheesecake haven.

The studio now has a clause in its starlet contracts, pressing them to "cheesecake" duty for their first five years of service (what happens then—are they too old for it, or have they risen above it?).

DE CARLO SPEAKS

At any rate, the cleavage between the studio's beauties and Miss Temple is marked. Egged on by her press agents, curvy Yvonne de Carlo took a deep breath and expounded:

"Rita Hayworth parlayed a $3 sweater into stardom and a multi-million-dollar marriage—what's wrong with that?" asked the Vancouver beauty.

"Lana Turner has done all right for a one-time soda jerk," she added. "She's jerking champagne now."

Shelley Winters chimed in with: "Marlene Dietrich can be a grandmother and still hit page one—just because she's got good legs and shows them."

AND OTHER COMMENT

Added Ida Lupino: "Betty Grable was the highest paid woman in America the last time the income tax boys released their figures. And they were really releasing a figure that time."

A final word was put in the mouth of Peggie Castle, first film hopeful to stent under the U.I. cheesecake clavier:

"A lot of gals who won't pose for cheesecake won't be eating cheesecake either."

And that, I hope, just about covers the situation. Which is more than I can say for some of the costumes these girls have been seen in lately.

Mrs. L. Montgomery, Dieppe Road, accompanied by her son, Desmond, left Sunday evening for the east. Traveling through United States, they will spend a few days in Salt Lake City, and in Chicago, before proceeding to Toronto. They are expected home early in September.

St. Ann's Commercial Graduates

Graduates of St. Ann's commercial class receive diplomas and awards. Reading from left to right are, standing: Elaine Douglas, Helene Guillemaude, Jeannine Saunders, Jacqueline Le Huquet, Jean Dobbie, Vivian Notley, Josephine Tobin, Joyce-Lyn Ruddock. St. Ann's Academy diplomas for satisfactorily completing secretarial and bookkeeping courses were awarded to the Misses Edythe Thornett, Jean Dobbie and Mary Liebhauer, diplomas for completion of stenography course to Misses Mary Campbell, Jacqueline Le Huquet, Joyce-Lyn Ruddock and Jeannine Saunders.

The above students, as well as Elaine Douglas and Josephine Tobin, received office specialty company filing certificates, while bookkeeping certificates were merited by Jean Dobbie, Mary Liebhauer and Edythe Thornett.

Students receiving Pitman bronze pins for high accuracy in shorthand transcription were Jean Dobbie, Jacqueline Le Huquet, Edythe Thornett, Joyce-Lyn Ruddock, and Mary Liebhauer.

Your Baby And Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

IT'S UNWISE TO LIVE WITH RELATIVES

There is no person living who is able to give a perfect answer to every question asked. The adviser does best who tries to enunciate general principles, allowing the questioner to apply them to her own problem.

In the matter of adult relationship problems one is handicapped by not knowing the individuals concerned and what is the real—not the apparent—cause of their difficulties.

Here are two sisters, living in the same house with children of the same age. They cannot agree on the children.

Mrs. S. writes, "Whatever my child does is wrong. The two may be playing together for a time and then my girl will slap her. Then my sister is all over her for it. The children are each 2 1/2 years."

"Or, again, maybe they will be playing on the floor and my girl will climb on her cousin and start hugging her. My sister yells at her—she is wrong again."

"This has been going on ever since they have been walking. It is all hate between my sister and my daughter. She never has a kind word for the child. This goes on all day and I talk to my child but it does no good. My attention. Nor do we lap up sister says if she continues to act this way we will have to move. This has made my husband and me feel badly."

If your sister's child played continually with some other child of 2 1/2 years, she would find that this is typical child's behavior.

Some children are more aggressive than others, some hug harder and get inspiration to continue this by the reaction they get from adults.

Looked at dispassionately and allowing for the child's natural behavior, it is still unfair to subject another child to treatment which is so disturbing to the mother. When your child acts this way she should be separated from the other child immediately, until she learns that if she is to enjoy her cousin's company, she can't do things which hurt her, even though these hugs and slaps may be loving in intent.

Why do you want to live near your sister when it poses such problems for both of you? It is clear she isn't enjoying the association. How much better to live separately, let the children see each other occasionally, instead of continuing a wrangling, unhappy existence that makes you all dislike each other.

No two families, relatives or otherwise, should be in such close proximity to each other. I think your sister's suggestion is a good one.

Our leaflet No. 57 "Children's Quarrels," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

Ice cream balls rolled in silver roasted almonds and then topped with a chocolate sauce is our favorite summer dessert. We like to make our own ice cream in the old-fashioned hand-turned freezer and then scoop out balls with a little gravy ladle. Roast the almonds in a slow oven about 20 minutes to half an hour and then cut them in slivers.

Old favorites keep popping up over and over again. This time of year we like to get a bakery angel food cake, hollow it out slightly and fill with a mixture of whipped cream, sliced canned cling peaches and fresh sweetened raspberries. Chill it in the refrigerator until time to serve.

Baking powder is a very important ingredient in cakes. To measure correctly, dip a dry standard measuring spoon into the baking powder and level it off lightly with the straight edge of a knife. As a general guide use 1 level teaspoon double-action baking powder per cup of sifted cake flour or 1 1/4 teaspoons per cup of sifted all-purpose flour.

Shrimps and cubes of buttery ripe melon topped with a peppery cocktail sauce are good partners for a festive cocktail. Cut the melon in half, remove seed and skin and cut the fruit into bite-sized pieces. If you use canned shrimps their flavor will be improved if you wash them in fresh cold water before using them.

There is an art to knowing how to pack foods for picnics so they will arrive in perfect condition. A pot of beef beans will stay good and hot for a long time if it is wrapped in a lot of old newspapers.

Salads for outdoor meals in the back yard or on the porch might well be the finger food kind—carrot curls, celery hearts, radishes, green onions and plenty of green and ripe olives. They fit in beautifully with any kind of a menu.

LUXURY-LOVING MAIDEN IS POOR MARRIAGE BET

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am just an ordinary fellow of 21, making a small salary. I am engaged to a girl and have been trying to save up enough money to marry her, but here's the rub: My girl friend is not willing to help me save.

She is an only child and is badly spoiled. She demands that I take her to the most expensive places, send her flowers and give her gifts. When I try to explain to her that I can't spend and save at the same time, she pulls a tantrum and we quarrel violently.

I am getting fed up on this kind of thing. Do you think I am in honor bound to marry her?

Answer: I certainly do not think that you are in honor bound to marry this selfish girl. But if you have any compunction about the engagement, get her to do it. That, in your case, will be the easiest thing in the world to do, because her love of luxury will soon make her tire of any man who cannot indulge her in the things she desires.

A few months of your refusing to take her anywhere except to a neighborhood movie, of treating her to nothing more expensive than an ice cream soda, will turn the trick, and she will pass you up for some man who is a better spender.

You may justify yourself in forcing your girl's hand by the certainty that if you married her she would be utterly miserable as a poor man's wife, and she would soon leave you for some other man who made more money.

ACT NOW

Better make the break now before you are dragged through a marriage with a whining, complaining, dissatisfied wife who is always having hysterics to get her own way and raising ructions because she hasn't all the finery she desires.

Whole fruit nectar is a wonderfully refreshing drink for hot summer days. To make a delicious cobbler combine equal parts of chilled nectar with pineapple juice and then add some ginger ale or sparkling water. Use all chilled ingredients and then add a bit of ice to make the glasses tinkle.

ERICH VON MANSTEIN

Churchill Provides Money For Legal Defence Of Nazi

LONDON (CP) — Winston Churchill Saturday contributed £25 ($100) to a legal defence fund for a former German field marshal, Fritz Erich von Mannstein.

Von Mannstein's trial on war crimes charges is set to open in Hamburg, Aug. 9.

Churchill was not available to give reasons why he had contributed. The fund is being collected by a group headed by Baron de L'Isle.

Baron de L'Isle, 39, won the Victoria Cross at Anzio Beach in Italy.

"Had we met during the war I would have shot him," Baron de L'Isle said of Von Mannstein. "But now I want sufficient money to ensure that he is properly represented by a British barrister. I do not know him. I am not concerned with whether he is guilty or not. But I want Britain's reputation upheld."

The fund was started after Paul Leverkuehn, one of the German lawyers who will represent Von Mannstein, said he had failed to persuade the British government to provide a British lawyer to assist in the defence.

The British government contends Von Mannstein would be adequately represented by German counsel.

13,800,000 Bottles Of Pop

In hot weather George Hudson and Nigel Martin, with back to camera, never suffer from the lack of a quencher to slake their thirst. They bottle thousands of bottles of "pop" at a Victoria beverage company.

If all the "pop" drunk in one week to quench the thirsty Victorians was emptied in bulk on Douglas Street, a large-size and effervescent river would flow merrily through the centre of the city.

If you have any doubts about this, take a look at the figures of soft-drink production on a hot day in Greater Victoria.

Approximately 3,000 cases containing 72,000 bottles of all types of soft beverages are consumed in one day by Victorians.

In a week, 21,000 cases, containing 504,000 bottles, are drunk in restaurants, around soda fountain counters, at picnics and in the homes. In two weeks, the total is over a 1,000,000 bottles.

Production of "pop" reaches its peak during the summer months when the sun is hot, but drops rapidly as soon as the cool weather sets in. According to manufacturers production goes up 75 per cent during the holiday season.

It has been estimated that five cases of soft drinks is consumed per capita per year in Victoria. This means that Greater Victoria, with a population of 105,000, has a yearly consumption of 570,000 cases. In other words, they drink 13,800,000 bottles per annum.

Plenty Of Food In This Country For Britain If Payment Arranged

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada could supply the United Kingdom with more than half her annual food requirements—with the exception of bacon—if the U.K. had the ability to pay. That's the view of Canadian trade experts.

Generally, Britain's dollar scarcity was responsible for a recent dip in the amount of foodstuffs moving across the Atlantic from Canadian shores, said a trade department spokesman.

It also was responsible for Britain buying more foodstuffs from Iron-Curtain and other countries on a barter basis, to the detriment of Canadian farmers.

However, notwithstanding the dollar shortage, the U.K. still is making large-scale food purchases in the Dominion, and because Britain is Canada's traditional market the federal government is striving to keep open that market.

For many years Britain has been Canada's principal overseas customer for a wide variety of staple and fancy foodstuffs. The trend has been to cut off purchases of foodstuffs but continue purchases of staples.

Currently, Canada is supplying the U.K. with about $400,000,000 worth of food a year. That amount is far below war-year purchases when Canada produced and sold to Britain more than 50 per cent of that country's food requirements.

But the U.K. still is taking a big portion of Canada's wheat production. In the 1949-50 crop year starting Aug. 1 Canada will ship 140,000,000 bushels of wheat at $2 a bushel. If Britain wants more wheat all she has to do is open her pocketbook.

Eggs are in greater supply and Canadian producers viewed with disappointment the 1949 Anglo-Canadian egg contract which was smaller than the one completed the previous year.

Total egg shipments will amount to about 1,500,000 cases of eggs in the 1949 period at a variety of prices slightly below prices paid last year.

In the case of bacon, the U.K. has hit a snag. Canadian hog production has been so light this year that suppliers are finding it difficult to keep even domestic consumers happy.

SALMON AGREEMENT

Shipments of Canadian salmon and apples will not be as great as they were in previous years, but for different reasons.

The U.K. started cutting salmon purchases in Canada in 1947, took no salmon in 1948 and just lately has agreed to buy a shipment of 410,000 cases to be paid through Marshall-Aid allotments.

In the same way she started cutting purchases of apples in the early postwar period. In 1938 Canada supplied Britain with 300,000,000 pounds of apples, in 1947 this shrunk to 66,000,000 pounds and latterly she has taken no apples at all.

There is hope she may take a small token shipment of $1,500,000 worth of the product from hard-pressed east-coast growers. No final decision has as yet been made. Probably it will depend on whether Marshall-Aid funds are available and how the U.K. government feels about making further food purchases in Canada.

Children To Dress As Book Characters

Characters from books will come to life for a few hours Wednesday afternoon when children attending supervised Playfair Park in Saanich hold their special events day at 2.

The children will dress as characters from their favorite books.

The park was officially opened last week when guest speaker was Councillor W. E. Bond. Miss Doris Fleming, park supervisor, spoke briefly and introduced Michael Ridout, 9, who has been chosen by popular vote to be president of the boys and girls.

Michael thanked the children and asked them for their co-operation in helping to keep the playground tidy.

Mrs. Frank Farrow, chief supervisor of the playgrounds for Saanich Recreation Council, spoke briefly.

Free hot dogs and lemonade were given to the 125 children present and tea and cookies to

Authenticity Keynote In 'Ends Of Earth'

Hollywood, the city of shadow and substance, is going to have a good deal more substance from now on.

For the arrival of Columbia's "To the Ends of the Earth" climaxes a trend which has been developing for some time. This is the increasing tendency to rely on factual material for some of the most gripping entertainment ever turned out.

"To the Ends of the Earth," currently on view at the Oak

Bay Theatre with Dick Powell and Signe Hasso starred, is high-tension drama based on hitherto secret files of the U.S. Treasury's Bureau of Narcotics, Coast Guard and Customs.

ODEON THEATRE
Diamond, the celebrated movie horse that played "Flicka" and "Smoky," is seen as "Black Velvet" in the Universal-International Technicolor film, "Red Canyon," now at the Odeon Theatre.

Ann Blythe, Howard Duff and George Brent are starred in the spectacular western adventure romance which is based upon "Wildfire," one of Zane Grey's most popular novels.

Acrobatic Troupe In Film At Plaza

"It Happened Tomorrow," the hit comedy Rene Clair directed for Arnold Pressburger production, now playing at the Plaza Theatre, boasts a most unusual troupe of acrobats.

The troupe is known as Cameron Troupe of Acrobats. They were doing their act on the gay 90's set of "It Happened Tomorrow," and doing it in their usual championship style. When the rehearsal was over Rene Clair was satisfied, but he had some ideas.

"That man on the left has a comedy face," said Clair, "move him to the right side of the pyramid for a full face into the camera."
"Can't," said Cameron. "His right shoulder has been broken three times. Won't hold any weight."

SHREWD PLAY BEATS POOR DISTRIBUTION

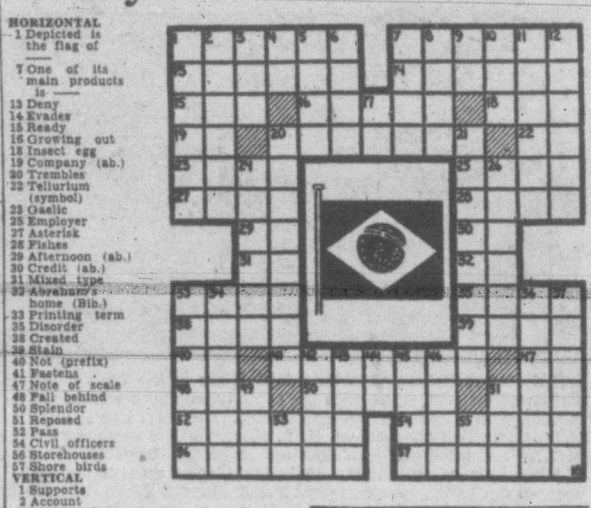

I like to get my hands from actual play or from kibitzing. It takes a lot of kibitzing to get an unusual hand, but then I can present the situation as it came up at the card table.

Today's hand is one I kibitzed at a table where S. Seidman, of New York City, was playing. Many hands are written off by the players with, "That was a bad break, all the trumps in one hand." But do not give up when you get such a bad break. Give yourself a chance, as Seidman did.

West won the first trick with the ace of hearts, and his partner having played the nine-spot, he continued with a small heart. Seidman ruffed this with the three of spades. Then he finessed dummy's 10 of diamonds, which held. He led the ace of spades from dummy and West showed out. East now had more trumps than the declarer.

However, Seidman decided to give himself a chance. He cashed the ace, king and queen of clubs, discarding two hearts from dummy. He led his last diamond and finessed the jack. The ace of diamonds was played, East

Peck, Baxter Paired

Pairing Gregory Peck and Anne Baxter for the first time on the screen, and presenting ruffed with the four of spades, declarer over-ruffed. Seidman then led a club, trumped in dummy with the 10 of spades, East discarding the king of hearts. Another diamond was led, East had to trump and declarer overtrumped. East, who had five trumps originally, found it impossible to make a trump trick.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Devotees of the outdoor action film-drama are due for something very special along these lines when they see Paramount's great Technicolor Western adventure, "Streets of Laredo," currently at the Capitol Theatre. Co-starring William Holden, William Bendix, Macdonald Carey and Mona Freeman, the picture offers not only big stars but promises large-scale action thrills, great dramatic impact and some of the most beautiful scenery ever captured by the Technicolor cameras.

DOMINION THEATRE

Republic Studio's color process, Trucolor, gives that extra touch of realism to western film entertainment. "The Far Frontier," Roy Rogers' latest starring vehicle, now playing at the Dominion Theatre, is excellent proof.

The ever-increasing demand for Trucolor by the movie-going public is a great satisfaction to Herbert J. Yates, Republic president, who bought the original color patents more than 10 years ago.

Scare Off Burglar Mr. and Mrs. E. Larsen, 1716 Stanley Avenue, scared off a burglar who was in the act of breaking into their basement suite at 4.10 Sunday morning, city police reported.

Mrs. Larsen was disturbed by noises at the window and awakened her husband, who turned on the light. When they got up to investigate, the would-be burglar in his haste to get away struck the window with a hard object and broke it.

In checking their car, it was found it had been entered by forcing a door handle. Missing was a six-inch crescent wrench and an eight-inch plastic-handled screw driver. It is presumed the screw driver was being used to jimmy the window, which had inch-deep jimmy holes around it.

Now Mrs. Withers what is the name of the world-famous aperient?—No prompting, please.

The name of this world-famous aperient, Mrs. Withers, is KRUSCHEN. And the word aperient is a medical term for the mildly laxative action of Kruschen. In Kruschen you get a unique blend of saline minerals similar to those found in medicinal waters or springs. Kruschen offers you these four advantages:

EASY TO TAKE—Dissolves quickly in water, or your morning coffee, tea or fruit juice. Most folks find the small morning dose is best.

WORKS FAST—Usually within the hour. Does not spoil your day.

GENTLE ACTION—Its formula is balanced to act gently, without discomfort.

TIME-TESTED—Over 300,000,000 packages sold throughout the world.

Next time your system needs help, due to common constipation, sluggishness or the effects of over-indulgence—try Kruschen for prompt, gentle relief. Take it regularly—get that grand "Kruschen feeling". 25c and 75c at all drug stores.

Property Of Men Who Broke Strike At Asbestos Burns

ASBESTOS, Que. (CP)—Police here reported a series of incidents Saturday night during which damage was caused to property of employees of the Canadian Johns-Manville Company who worked during the 4½-months strike against the company. The dispute was settled July 1.

At 3 a.m. Sunday fire destroyed a barn owned by Leonard Roux at Tingwick, three miles from Asbestos. Police chief Albert Bell said Roux, who worked during the strike, had been warned the barn would be burned.

Ten minutes earlier, Chief Bell and another police officer were patrolling Asbestos streets when they saw two men acting suspiciously behind a store. The men started moving away when the officers approached. Chief Bell ordered them to stop and fired three shots, but failed to stop them.

Earlier stones had been thrown through windows of four houses occupied by non-strikers.

A group of men gathered on the street near the mill as workmen were leaving at midnight, and threw stones at cars carrying men who took part in the strike.

WINS CAPITAL-TO-CAPITAL RACE—Here is the cruiser Alleen, owned by George H. "Joker" Patton of Victoria, which won the capital-to-capital predicted log race from Olympia, Wash., to Juneau, Alaska, with a 2.457 percentage of error. The craft was flying the colors of the Nanaimo Yacht Club. H. B. Garrett's Conquest and K. L. Klives' Klatawa were second and third, respectively, with errors of 2.790 and 2.800 per cent. Both are Bremerton boats. The Nanaimo Yacht Club was given possession of a large plaque, and smaller, individual plaques went to the first three finishers. Four other cruisers dropped out of the race earlier at Prince Rupert. More than 100 finished the first leg from Olympia to Nanaimo, but only 11 started out on the ocean voyage north to Juneau.

his family when another car, alleged by police to be driven by Gerard Allie, forced him into the ditch.

Allie was arrested and later released on bond of $125, police said. He will be arraigned at Sherbrooke.

Chief Bell said that although there were seven arrests in the town during the past week for minor offences, there had been nothing on the same scale as Saturday.

RACING SUSPENSIONS

FORT ERIE, Ont. (CP)—Trainer R. McGowan and Groom George Coady have been suspended pending a ruling by the Incorporated Canadian Racing Association, it was announced Saturday by the stewards of Fort Erie race track.

The suspensions followed a positive saliva test on Cheek, winner of the third race here Thursday.

HOCKEY TRADE

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The American Hockey League's Buffalo Bisons announced Saturday night that they have traded goalie Gordie Bell to Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League.

In return, Art Chapman, general manager of the Bisons, will select two players at the Montreal training camp in the fall.

Polish Police Use Hose To Disperse Crowd At Church

WARSAW (UP)—Police using fire hoses quelled a near-riot of peasant religious pilgrims seeking to view a picture of the Virgin Mary in the Lublin Cathedral Sunday, reports reaching Warsaw said today.

State militia men armed with tommyguns held the crowd back outside the cathedral where the picture, which reputedly shed tears of blood, was on display.

The reports said one woman was killed and 19 persons injured Wednesday during a panic. Investigators said was caused when an unknown person shouted that a wall was falling.

A Warsaw priest claimed two weeks ago that he had seen the altar shedding tears of blood. Later stories circulated that six blind Poles had regained their sight while praying before the portrait. As a result, thousands flocked to Lublin.

Despite a statement by the Bishop of Lublin that no miracle had occurred, the public prosecutor charged that church officials encouraged the pilgrimage. Pro-government organizations throughout Poland condemned the "scandalous" act of the church.

HAY FEVER AND ASTHMA

Two Treatments Found

Amazingly new and effective separate treatments for Asthma and Hay Fever have recently been developed. HAY FEVER: AZO is a saline for the relief of discomforts and distresses caused by Hay Fever. AZO comes in a tube with a special nozzle, which makes it easy to squeeze a little up each nostril to stop the sneezing and discharge with amazing speed, soothe irritated and inflamed membranes. A tube of AZO costs $1.50.

If your Hay Fever is accompanied by difficult breathing, the outfit at $2.50, which includes two tubes and special tablets, is recommended. ASTHMA: Asthmatics are skeptical of results because of the large number of preparations they have tried out, so few claims are made here for Respatone. Asthma tablets, but it is known Respatone gives excellent results in a very high percentage of cases. To take care of all budgets, Respatone is available in three sizes, 75c, $1.75 and the large economy $3.00.

AZO and Respatone have been compounded by specialists in this field for over 30 years; and are distributed throughout Canada by Springwood Pharmaceuticals, Saanichton, B.C. Cut out this article to remind you to ask your druggist today for whichever treatment you require.

Vern Stephens Major Cog In Boston Drive

If Joe McCarthy's Boston Red Sox fail to overtake New York Yankees in the American League pennant struggle, it will not be the fault of Vern Stephens.

The stocky little shortstop is enjoying his greatest year at the plate. Barring injury or a sudden slump he should lead his circuit in the two power departments—home runs and runs batted in.

Stephens is currently facing the field in both departments with 23 four-baggers and 93 runs batted in.

He stepped out well in front yesterday when he lashed out two homers and drove in all Boston's runs as the Red Sox divided a doubleheader with Indians in Cleveland before a crowd of 73,599.

With first baseman Mickey Vernon knocking in three runs with a double and single, the Tribe won the opener, 4 to 2. Stephens batted in both Boston runs with a home run and single.

The Sox came back to win the nightcap, 2 to 1, as young Chuck Stobbs outpitched veteran Al Benton. Again Stephens fashioned both Boston runs with a single and a home run.

The split prevented the two clubs from making any gain on the pace-setting Yankees, but the Red Sox were able to vault past Philadelphia into third place. The Athletics dropped into fourth place, losing both ends of a doubleheader to the Tigers in Detroit, 8 to 0 and 5 to 4.

The Yankees retained their 5½-game margin over the Indians by splitting a twin bill with the White Sox in Chicago. Joe DiMaggio's sixth home run in the seventh inning gave the Yankees the opener, 2 to 1 and Vic Raschi his 14th triumph against only two losses. The White Sox pounded Fred Sanford and Frank Shea for 14 hits to earn a 7 to 3 triumph in the nightcap.

Brooklyn retained its 1½-game lead over runner-up St. Louis, edging out the Chicago Cubs 4 to 3 while the Cardinals were thrashing the Giants in New York 10 to 1. The third-place

Ejection Of Player Brings Forfeit In Minor Baseball

Overcoming a 3 to 1 lead with a flurry of base hits good for seven runs in the fifth inning and six more in the sixth-inning, Fletcher's Men's Shop defeated Ace Woodworkers, 14 to 6, in the first game of the Minor Baseball Association senior section knock-out finals Sunday.

However, the second game of the scheduled double bill was forfeited to Ace Woodworkers following three innings of play when Fletcher's became short-handed due to a player being

Snead Tees Off With Five-Stroke Tournament Lead

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Sammy Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., golfer who boasts a string of blue ribbons as long as his famous tee shots, began the final round of the $16,500 Dapper Dan tournament today with a five-stroke lead.

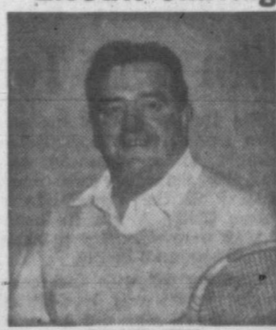

Rain forced postponement of the pay-off round yesterday but the rolling Alcon Country Club course dries out fast. With a break from the weatherman, Snead was expected to take the $2,000 first money today without swinging up a sweat. The Blue Ridge Mountain story spinner is having one of his best seasons and finished the third round Saturday with a total of 203.

Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, who was second with 208, appeared to have the best chance to catch Snead but the P.G.A. champion will have to cool off considerably. Sammy, who has won just about every big tournament except the National Open, knocked 13 strokes off par for the first 54 holes.

TIE FOR THIRD
Toby Lyons of Warren, Pa., and Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., were tied for third place with 209's.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff, the young Memphis dentist who beat Snead by a stroke in the Reading, Pa., Open last week, was seven strokes off the pace with a 210. Middlecoff, Snead's closest rival for money-winning honors this year, shared fourth place with Dick Metz of Virginia Beach, Va., Otto Greiner of Baltimore, and Herman Barron of White Plains, N.Y.

Ruth Oster Pitches No-Hit No-Run Game

Ruth Oster of Red's Service women's softball team yesterday hurled a no-hit, no-run game as Red's blanked Sidney, 7 to 0, in the first game of a best-of-three zone playoff. Second game will be played at Sidney Tuesday night.

In addition to hurling the no-hit, no-run game, Oster sparked the seven-run third inning for the victors by hammering out a home run.

Both these feats earned her

"treats" from club manager Wally Yeamans, who had promised such a prize if she hurled a shutout or if she hit a home run.

Oster was only in danger of losing her perfect performance in the sixth inning when Sidney loaded the bases on a base on balls and two errors with two out. However, Brown filed out to end the inning.

Oster gave up three walks. Her teammates committed four errors.

Scorching Main Event Of Car Races Won By Jack Spaulding

Auto racing at Langford Speedway reached a peak Saturday night with the hottest 30-lap main event ever rolled.

It was a scorcher from start to finish with cigar-chewing Jack Spaulding climbing from ninth spot in an 11-car pack to get the checkered flag first.

He was at the wheel of the local No. 1 car which was its old sweet-running self after some sourness in previous meets.

Spaulding showed finesse as he wheeled the wagon to win. He was up against the finest competition you'd ever wish to see.

His long-time rival, Digger

Caldwell, driving the Seattle No. 4 car, put on just as good a show in taking second place in the event. He was in first place from the 13th to the 25th lap when he wasn't able to hold off Spaulding and his faster car any longer. Caldwell started seventh in the race.

Third place went to Ernie Spaulding driving the U.S. No. 9 in which Don Olds of Seattle set the 17.50 seconds track record last year. It was the No. 5 at that time.

OLDS IN FOURTH
Olds, driving the local No. 3 car, made it talk in winning fourth position. Brownie Brown in No. 9 was fifth, and Del Fanning in his Seattle No. 26 was sixth. Next to him was Bob Simpson driving Jack Smith's No. 36.

Winner Spaulding had worked his way from ninth to fifth place by the fifth lap. He was up to fourth at the 10th. On the 15th he bettered his position again, and there he stayed with brother Ernie holding down second place.

Meanwhile Caldwell had moved into first in a searing duel with Olds and Ernie Spaulding.

Both he and Ernie were trying to take Olds whose car was not as fast as the other two. Caldwell finally jumped the leader on the outside and Ernie followed suit.

Then on the 25th lap, Jack Spaulding moved up from third in another three-car tussle, overtaking both Caldwell and brother Ernie. He rode it home without much trouble.

There was a great battle for fourth position between Olds, Fanning, Brown and Simpson. They were bunched closely at the finish.

OTHER RACES
Results of other races:
Helmet dash went to Caldwell when Spaulding and Simpson were forced out with engine problems.

First heat race was won by Jack Spaulding with Ernie second and Caldwell third. Ernie barked at Simpson's heels until the No. 36 car went into a spin on the last lap.

Second heat race was won by Caldwell with Simpson second and Fanning third.

Third heat race was won hands down by Fanning with Brown second and Olds third.

Fourth heat race was won by Olds with Corky Thomas in No. 27 second and Eddie Kostenuk in No. 11 third.

Bung Eng, the local Chinese driver, had trouble again with his No. 7 car most of the evening. The crowd got a laugh from a crash elimination event staged with old stock cars. Caldwell won the "survival of the fittest" contest.

Find Evidence Mt. Douglas Set Afire Accidentally

Evidence that the bush blaze that razed a large area of the crown of Mount Douglas Saturday afternoon was accidental, was discovered by Constable Joseph Armstrong of the Saanich police in his investigations Sunday.

Constable Armstrong said it was only a single fire that started on the south side and branched out to envelop almost the whole of the crown of the mountain.

At the point where the fire started, he said, there was evidence that efforts had been made to stamp out the fire. However, it is surmised that with a high wind blowing, the little blaze quickly spread and got out of hand.

Saanich firemen were on the job throughout Saturday night and Sunday wiping out the burning and smoldering pockets. Rain during the night put the finishing touches to the "wetting down" process.

The spectacular blaze was seen for miles around.

Thousands of feet of hose were used to subdue the fire. Tank trucks and the hydrant at the foot of the mountain were used to get a water supply. Sunday Chief Joseph Law, who was active in the fire-fighting, reported a 750-gallon oil spraying truck and a smaller tank on a municipal truck were driven up to the crest of the mountain to provide a closer supply of water.

While firemen were still battling the mountain blaze Saturday evening, a small fire off Ten Mile Point's Phyllis Street was caught and put out shortly after it started.

The Ten Mile Point blaze is believed to be the work of a "fire bug."

Remanded For Sentence

Alexander McLachlan, 26, of Vancouver, was today remanded to Thursday morning for sentence on three bank cheque forgery charges to which he pleaded guilty last week.

The magistrate said he wished to peruse the probation officer's report before determining sentence.

Accused is also awaiting sentence on a charge of breaking and entering by night and robbing the home of A. L. Stevenson, 2701 Dufferin Street, in Oak Bay on May 21.

A slight bruise over the left eye was suffered by Mrs. R. Parrott, Pearl Street, Langford, at 5:25 Saturday evening at Quadra Street and Pandora Avenue, when a Vancouver Island Coach Lines bus, driven by Michael Fleming, 800 Topaz Avenue, was in collision with the rear of a car driven by Harold N. Parrott, Langford, city police reported. They estimated $125 damage was done to the car, $25 to the bus.

Rainbow Provides Setting For Park Opening In Saanich

A rainbow over Rainbow Park in Saanich provided an appropriate touch to the official opening Friday night.

Reeve E. C. Warren of Saanich, Councillor E. P. Cummins and E. C. Head declared the supervised park open and more than 75 children took part in the gay costume party which followed.

For the first swimming class at Crystal Garden Thursday morning, 175 children turned out. Something new in pet parades was held at Cedar Hill Park following the official opening, when children brought the best dressed dogs.

Wendy Sanderson, 9, took a prize with "Bingo" whom she dressed up as Little Bo Peep, complete with sun bonnet, skirt and bodice. Becky Berks, 6, was another prizewinner with "Pam," whom she dressed as a glamour girl with large picture hat.

Rudd Park, which boasts a set of swings and parallel bars, donated by the parents, was officially opened by Reeve Warren last week, with a decorated vehicle parade as a special event. Not only tricycles and wagons but even doll carriages were in the line-up.

Mrs. H. Giles, chairman, introduced Mrs. Frank Farrow, chief supervisor, and Mrs. Lilian Lucas, supervisor.

A merry-go-round, rocking horses and rocking chairs were donated to Qu'Appelle Park by Mr. Bedington. Toimie Park was also opened officially last week.

Farmers' Hopes Dashed; Only .16 Inch Of Rain Here

It was wonderful for the farmers, but as far as the farmers are concerned, it was just enough to dampen the ground and no more. Officials at the Dominion Meteorological Station at Gonzales reported that only .16 inches of rain fell here during the night.

Apparent "break" in the weather occurred last Friday when skies became overcast and precipitation amounted to .03 inches. Sunny skies resumed all day Saturday and most of Sunday although there was a light rainfall up-island Sunday evening.

The storm reached the city during the night and ended at 7:30 this morning.

The official weather forecast for this area lists cloudy skies today and Tuesday but makes no mention of rain. Temperatures will remain normal with tonight's low reading 53 degrees and the high on Tuesday, 67.

Last rainfall of any considerable amount occurred here on June 7, when a total of .23 inches was recorded.

Change Announced In 'Y' Summer Cruise

Program director Bob Morrison of the Y.M.C.A. today announced a one-week trip to Princess Louisa Inlet will replace the scheduled two-weeks' cruise aboard the Songhee to northern waters Aug. 1 to 13.

The new schedule calls for the cabin cruiser to leave Victoria Aug. 1 at 9 in the morning for Princess Louisa Inlet, returning Aug. 7. Anyone wishing to make the trip should contact the "Y" immediately.

The Songhee left yesterday for a two-weeks' cruise of northern waters and will return July 31.

Province Reserves Three Park Areas

Three more areas have been reserved by provincial order-in-council "for the use, recreation and enjoyment of the public."

They are 763.65 acres surrounding Six Mile Lake (Ross Lake), six miles east of Hazelton; a three-acre island at the mouth of Adams River on the east coast of Vancouver Island, and 7.6 acres near Wardner, in the Kootenays.

Appointed To Council Of Agrologists' Institute

The provincial government has appointed Dr. J. B. Munro, deputy agriculture minister, and John C. Berry, senior member of the agriculture faculty, University of B.C., to the council of the B.C. Institute of Agrologists. They will serve during 1949 and 1950.

Slump In Tax Prepayments Blamed On Billing Change

The amount of current-taxes prepaid to the city at the end of June was less than collections of 1948 taxes at June 30 of that year, even though the levy this year is higher.

This was reported today by D. A. Macdonald, comptroller-treasurer, who said posting of tax bills might be the reason.

First of the tax notices last year went out earlier than the first batch this year, and last year's were for downtown properties on which higher taxes are imposed. Mr. Macdonald explained.

Current taxes prepaid at June 30 this year amounted to $767,508 and at the same time last year the prepaid taxes totaled $772,885.

A big gain in collections was made in the first half of this month. Up to last Friday, July 15, collections for the month totaled $126,215. Corresponding figure for last year was $77,262.

Both amounts include current taxes and arrears, and until these figures were broken down, a true picture of prepayments beyond June 30 could not be made.

The payment of tax arrears up to the end of June was better this year than last. The amount of one-year-old arrears collected this year was $45,861, while last year at the same time collections were $45,109. Two-year-old arrears collected at June 30 this year totaled $9,229 and last year $7,586.

Current tax bills, not separated into downtown and residential classifications, still are being mailed, and officials of the assessor-collector department said this work should be completed by the end of the week.

Payment of taxes are due Oct. 4. Penalties are provided for if payments are not made by that date. Here is how they go:

If taxes are not paid on Oct. 4, 1 per cent of the bill is imposed; if they are not paid by Nov. 2, another 1 per cent penalty is levied; on Nov. 16 still another 1 per cent is added, making the penalty at this date 3 per cent; if bills are not paid by Dec. 2, 3 per cent more is added, making the penalty 6 per cent.

On the other hand, payments made anytime between Jan. 3 and Sept. 1 are credited with interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum from the date of each payment to Oct. 1.

Leg and arm pains were complained about by Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Thomas, 2443 Trent Street, when the car they were in was in collision with one driven by David G. Deacon, 128 Wildwood Avenue, at Shakespeare and Pembroke Streets Saturday, city police reported. The Thomases were treated at Jubilee Hospital.

Saskatchewan Picnic To Be Held Sunday

Final arrangements have been made for the Saskatchewan picnic at Mount Douglas Park, Sunday. Special buses will leave Vancouver Island Coach Lines Depot at 1:30 in the afternoon.

While sponsored by the Saskatchewan Association, the picnic is open to all former Saskatchewan people whether members of the association or not. Visitors from Saskatchewan in town also are invited to attend.

Fifteen hundred people attended last year's picnic and the organizing committee is ready for another large attendance this year. Races and other events are planned and there will be refreshments.

Former City Pianist In Chopin Festival

A former city resident, Mrs. Marie Balagno Lundquist of Preston, Wash., will be enrolled as an American contestant in the revived annual Chopin International Competition which will be held in Warsaw, Poland, commencing Sept. 15.

Mrs. Lundquist is a pupil of Stephen Balogh of Seattle and is a graduate of Seattle's Cornish School of Allied Arts. At a recent audition before the noted pianist, Artur Schnabel, she was said to have played Chopin "not only like a man, but like two men."

She is the granddaughter of the late Joseph Balagno, well-known in local music circles.

Meade Creek Fire, Most Other Blazes In B.C. Now Controlled

Nearly all B.C. forest fires, including the Meade Creek blaze near Lake Cowichan, today are under control the B.C. Forest Service reports.

The Meade Creek blaze, one of 17 burning in the province today, was brought under control Saturday night by 250 men and a large quantity of equipment. Today the fire was reported quiet and men are starting mopping up operations.

Possibly the only blaze out of control today is a fire in the Kettle Valley which is being fought by 60 men. Details on the extent of the fire were not immediately available here.

Lightning started several new fires in the Fraser Valley during the week-end, but all of these have been either controlled or extinguished. Only one new fire, a spot blaze in the Langford ranger district, which was controlled by a suppression crew, was reported for Vancouver Island during the week-end.

Prince Rupert forest district has no fires, while 16 blazes in the Kamloops forest district are being fought by 40 men. All are controlled.

Fort George forest district has 29 fires and crews totaling 27 fighting them. All are under control.

The Kettle Valley blaze is one of 24 burning in the Nelson forest district. Half of the 120-man crew of firefighters in that district are battling the one blaze.

Weather conditions have reduced the forest fire hazard throughout the province. In the Vancouver forest district cloudy and cool weather with more showers are predicted for the next two days.

Men, machines and the elements joined forces during the week-end to control the worst B.C. forest fire in several years.

COVERED 700 ACRES

The main Meade Creek fire was 700 acres in extent when it was brought under control. Driven by gale-force winds earlier, it had started several other fires one to two and a half miles away, some of which burned over 15 acres before being brought under control.

The fire spread a little on Sunday but firefighters were able to control the direction of the blaze.

While high winds blew in the area Saturday they did not tend to spread the fire very much. This was because the fire was in the lee of a mountain and the wind did not get at the flames.

Altogether 250 men battled the flames during the week-end, including crews of the Western Forest Industries Ltd. and the Victoria Lumber Co. Ltd. The fire broke out on the properties of the Western Forest Industries Ltd. and threatened for a time timberlands of the Victoria Lumber Co.

B.C. Forest Service headquarters here today had no new estimates of the damage done by the fire. The latest estimate was 2,500,000 board feet of cold-decked logs, which are believed a total loss, and 5,000,000 feet of felled and bucked timber, a considerable part of which is expected to be salvageable.

Magistrate's Problem

How can two persons, who insist on staying separated, be supported on the young husband's weekly earnings of $28?

There is one child and another expected and in her present condition the wife cannot work to help increase the income.

This was the problem facing Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today in a Deserted Wives Maintenance Act case.

He also learned that the husband was paying $20 a month to pay off a financial loan secured last year for the household.

"The man is not earning enough to sufficiently keep two establishments running," Magistrate Hall commented with a shake of his head.

He finally ordered that the husband turn over $12 a week to his wife, starting next Saturday.

"These cases where small salaries are paid are the most difficult I have to deal with where couples separate and cannot be brought together again," said the magistrate recently.

Record Attendance At City Playgrounds; All Events Popular

Largest attendance of any year since the supervised playgrounds came into existence is being recorded at Greater Victoria playgrounds this year, with an average weekly attendance alone, of 2,300 according to Gordon Hartley, director.

The special event in all city playgrounds Friday afternoon at 2 will be a decorated vehicle parade open to all types of vehicles. There is no age limit for children participating, and prizes will be awarded.

The usual swimming instruction will be given at Crystal Garden Tuesday and Friday mornings.

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons, at 2, at Stadacona Park, tennis instruction will be given. This Tuesday, at 2, a special demonstration of tennis by Carl Brand and Bud Hocking will be given, with a running commentary by the park supervisor.

Three events will hold the centre of the stage at Beacon Hill Thursday night, at 7.

There will be a girls' softball game between Victoria Playground girls and Sooke girls. A Wiener roast then will be held for all the children, and dancing on the green for teen-agers from 8:30, with a supervisor in attendance.

IMPORTANT Auction Sale

ON THURSDAY, JULY 21

COMMENCING AT 1 p.m.

Having received instructions from Mr. G. E. Rowat, who has sold his Farm known as the McPherson Farm on Old Koksilah Road, between Cowichan Station and Fairbridge Farm School, south of Duncan.

CATTLE
I will sell the following: 25 head of nice young Jersey Cows, two of them are registered and are from good stock, two have just freshened and six more are due to freshen shortly after the sale. The others are in full milk. Five nice registered Jersey Heifers from good stock and some of them are bred. Six high-grade Jersey Heifers, all of the heifers are of different ages. One very good registered Jersey Bull, 1 year. Full information will be given with each animal at the sale.

MACHINERY
Mc-D. Tractor, model M, with lots of power; has power take-off, hydraulic lift, 3 pulleys, 3-turbo flow, Mower, Hiller, Loader, Blade, etc. This is one of the best all round outfit I have ever sold and has been very little used. 13-run single disc Seed Drill with fertilizer and grass seed combination in A-1 shape. Almost new Fertilizer Spreader on rubber. Farm Wagon or Trailer on rubber. Set of Drag Harrows. Spring Tooth Harrows. All-steel Manure Spreader, Land Roller, Hay Rack, Walking Plow, Garden Seeder and Cultivator, Root Pulper. Paint Sprayer complete with motor and small Circular Saw. Carpenter and other small tools. Grindstone, Stock Saddle, Pack Saddle, Double Blocks and Line, Beam Scales. Almost new 22 Marlin Repeating Rifle. Two very good bicycles, lady's and gent's, and other things too numerous to mention.

DAIRY EQUIPMENT
2-Unit DeLaval Milking Machine, complete with motor, tanks, pump, piping and taps in tip-top shape. Milk Cooler, Pails, Strainers, etc. Large assortment of Milk Cans. This is another Farm Sale that offers a great opportunity to buyers. The cattle are good stock and are in fine shape. Papers will be in order for the purchased. Most of the machinery is nearly new and has been well cared for.

Librarian Named To Improve Libraries For B.C. Jails

Library services for institutions administered by the Attorney-General's Department are being improved following the appointment of a full-time librarian to handle this work, it was learned today.

The librarian is Jack Lort, previously on the staff of the provincial library and librarian of the Ketchikan Public Library. He is organizing library services for Oakalla Prison Farm, the New Haven Borstal-type institution, and provincial jails at Prince George, Kamloops and Nelson.

The Public Library Commission for some time has been advocating the setting up of a centralized library organization for all provincial institutions and more recently has suggested a separate division of the commission to meet the need.

The government did not see its way fit to establish the division this year and appointed Mr. Lort in the meantime.

"The question of an institutional library division of the Public Library Commission nevertheless is still under consideration," reported C. K. Morrison, superintendent for the Public Library Commission.

In its annual report the Public Library Commission said: "British Columbia has the law in many fields of social betterment, not least of all in the metamorphosis of institutional libraries, from dusty and moldy conglomerations of dog-eared and tattered volumes to collections of modern books, in format such as to encourage good reading rather than, as formerly, to turn inmates away from books for the rest of their lives."

"Only a start has been made, however. There yet remains to be organized, under an economical centralized system such as now obtains in the union library districts of the province, an adequate library service for all institutions—hospitals, asylums, sanatoria, houses of correction, infirmaries. In the opinion of the commission this can be done at comparatively little cost and with a resulting betterment in therapeutic and correctional methods out of all proportion to expenditure."

City Egg Prices
Take Second Jump
In Eight Days

Egg prices advanced today for the second time in eight days. On the producers' level, Grade A eggs jumped 3 cents a dozen. They took a similar advance last Monday. Pullet eggs went up 1 cent today above the 2-cent increase of last week.

Grade B eggs, which remained unchanged last Monday, jumped a full 5 cents this week. Peevee eggs increased by 2 cents.

Wholesalers, under the new price scale, will be able to charge retailers between 59 and 61 cents a dozen for Grade A large; between 57 and 58 cents for Grade A medium, and between 50 and 51 cents for pullet eggs.

If the dealers levy the maximum charge, the retail price for Grade A large eggs will be 67 cents a dozen. The minimum retail price will be 65 cents.
